

THE Supreme Court itself plainly intimated that 'another' definition might be made by Congress," says the New York Times, discussing the proposals to "liberalize" the Volstead act. "This is what a great many people now wish."

"Another"—yes. But what other? Only "another" within the limits of the constitution. The Supreme Court has also, not merely "hinted," but expressly said this. The definition may, and in the Volstead act does, go beyond the truth, in fixing an alcoholic content clearly below the intoxicating limit. But it may not, while the constitution stands, go beyond the truth in the opposite direction. It can not make an actually intoxicating drink legal by defining it as "non-intoxicating."

And this, and only this, "is what a great many people now wish." They are not in the least interested in the legal right of Congress to authorize one per cent instead of half per cent beer. No change, to them, is worth making unless it is a change authorizing a substantial percentage of alcohol. And this is precisely the "another" definition which, under the decision of the Supreme Court already rendered, Congress can not make. Get this street-corner legal fiction out of your system.

NICHOLAS Murray Butler and his "Sentinels of the Republic" imagine they are crusading against federal and in favor of state authority. As usual, they have not thought it through. What they want is a continuation and even a tightening of the federal safeguards protecting the rights of property, but a diminution of federal control of the use of that property. In these days, when many big businesses are bigger than any state, control by the state is necessarily limited and usually ineffective. To crusade for state control, then, is to seek the least possible amount of control from any source. But there are no such impregnable safeguards of the rights of property as the federal ones. To leave the protection of property to the legislatures of North Dakota or Wisconsin is the last thing in the world these conservatives want. What they seek is the greatest possible protection and the least possible regulation of the rights of property.

The labor organizations want the same thing, for the rights of labor. Neither of them should get it.

A FEW years ago, American motor cars had to be built high, to straddle the uneven American roads, and with powerful frames and engines, to endure the strain of our bad roads. European cars, by contrast, being made for better roads, were lower, lighter and handier. Now a European automobile representative points out that it is the European touring cars that have to be built high and heavy to withstand the poor roads. In a short generation, we have not only motorized America, but we have transformed its roads from the worst to the best in the world.

THE Irreconcilables in France threaten to ratify the American debt-settlement, American fashion, "with reservations." The reservations would be the "safeguard clause," providing that France is to pay America only if, and as much as, Germany pays France.

Unquestionably, this reservation would be popular in France. The deputies favoring it would gain much credit with their own constituents. And they would have good American example. That is the only way our Senate ever ratifies anything international.

But who would be the first to rise in indignation against any such reservation by France? Precisely those who have always most insisted on it for America. Such a proposal would be instantly and unanimously rejected, in Washington, with the Irreconcilables leading the rout.

THIS is still written at sea, but tomorrow morning early, we shall reach the Magic Isles. To nearly every one aboard it is an old story. Most of the passengers are island people returning to their homes—a large part of them students coming back for vacation—and most of the remainder are experienced voyagers. But there is a thrill of anticipation even to the jaded, in the sight or prospect of land, after a week at sea.

When the land is reached, with its gentleness, its beauty, its fragrance, its exotic charm, it is a double thrill. The very fact that most of the visitors are those who have made the journey before, testifies to its lasting attraction.

Nothing but time and distance prevent enterprising realtors from booming these islands into one of the winter climates of Florida, and much better, plus a summer climate as good, plus an other-worldliness to which Florida can never attain.

But most America winter-vacationists live within a few hundred miles of New York. They will spend money on their vacation, but not time. That is the only advantage Florida has over California, and the reason it is even greater over Hawaii.

Booze Penalties Held Too Light

WASHINGTON, July 7.—"Dry Czar" Andrews' secret service organization has made a "very appreciable dent" in large-scale international liquor smuggling, Maj. Walton A. Green, retiring director of the service, said here today.

Green added, however, that the present maximum penalty of two years in prison and of $10,000 fine for the $1,000,000-a-year smugglers was not enough to deter criminal activities.

He also estimated that less than 10 per cent of the liquor drunk in the United States now is imported.

Federal Building Urged for Santa Ana

FIGURES ON CITY GROWTH SENT SWING

Facts on Extent of Population and Business Used By C. of C. As Argument

RAYMER GATHERS DATA

Boosters for Post Office Structure Here Hope for $150,000 to $200,000

UNIMPEACHABLE facts and figures, gathered from the most reliable sources, to establish Santa Ana's claim for serious consideration when the matter of new federal buildings is considered this fall by the heads of the treasury and post office departments, have been forwarded to Congressman Phil D. Swing.

Swing has promised to present the data, with Santa Ana's request for an appropriation, to the proper officials in Washington, before he leaves for home, following adjournment of congress, last Saturday.

This statement was made today by George Raymer, secretary of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, who gathered the data which makes up the report. Raymer added that he had taken the proposal for a federal building up with Swing personally, when the congressman was in Santa Ana recently, and that Swing expressed the opinion that this city's claim was worthy of the strongest consideration by the proper authorities at the national capital.

Nature of Facts Presented
Raymer's figures present the "cold and hard" facts as regards the development of Santa Ana and Orange county in the following respects: Growth of Orange county assessed valuation for the last 10 years; growth of Santa Ana assessed valuation in 10 years; increase in deposits and resources of Santa Ana banks in 10 years; increase in Santa Ana population since 1890; increase in Orange county population since 1890; increase in postal receipts; increase in Santa Ana building permits for 10 years.

On the basis of past appropriations for Southern California federal buildings, as made by the house, the amount allowed for the Santa Ana structure should range between $150,000 and $200,000, in the opinion of the chamber of commerce secretary.

There are several outstanding reasons why the growth of population of Santa Ana and Orange county will be greater during the next decade than the last, such as the cutting up of the Irvine property; subdivision into building lots of smaller orange, walnut and lemon groves adjoining the present townsite of Santa Ana; subdivision of the present Newport Harbor area, which will also greatly add to the population of this area. Raymer wrote Congressman Swing, He added:

"All of the foregoing indicates the need for a federal building in our city and county."

What Figures Disclose
Raymer's figures show:

In 1915-16 the assessed valuation of Orange county was $48,248,675, compared to $146,732,680 for 1925-26.

In 1915-16 the assessed valuation of Santa Ana was $6,414,510, compared to $17,862,875 for 1925-26.

In 1915 the total resources of all Santa Ana banks was $7,038,010.17, compared to $19,746,666.44 in 1925.

In 1915 the total deposits in all Santa Ana banks was $4,974,114.56, compared to $16,128,673.64 in 1925.

In 1890 the population of Orange county was 13,589, compared to 100,000 (estimated) in 1925.

In 1890 the population of Santa Ana was 3628, compared to 31,000 (estimated) in 1925. These figures show an average yearly gain since 1890, in the population of the county of 9656 each year, or 16 per cent.

The average gain in population in Santa Ana over the same period was 3378 each year, or 22 per cent.

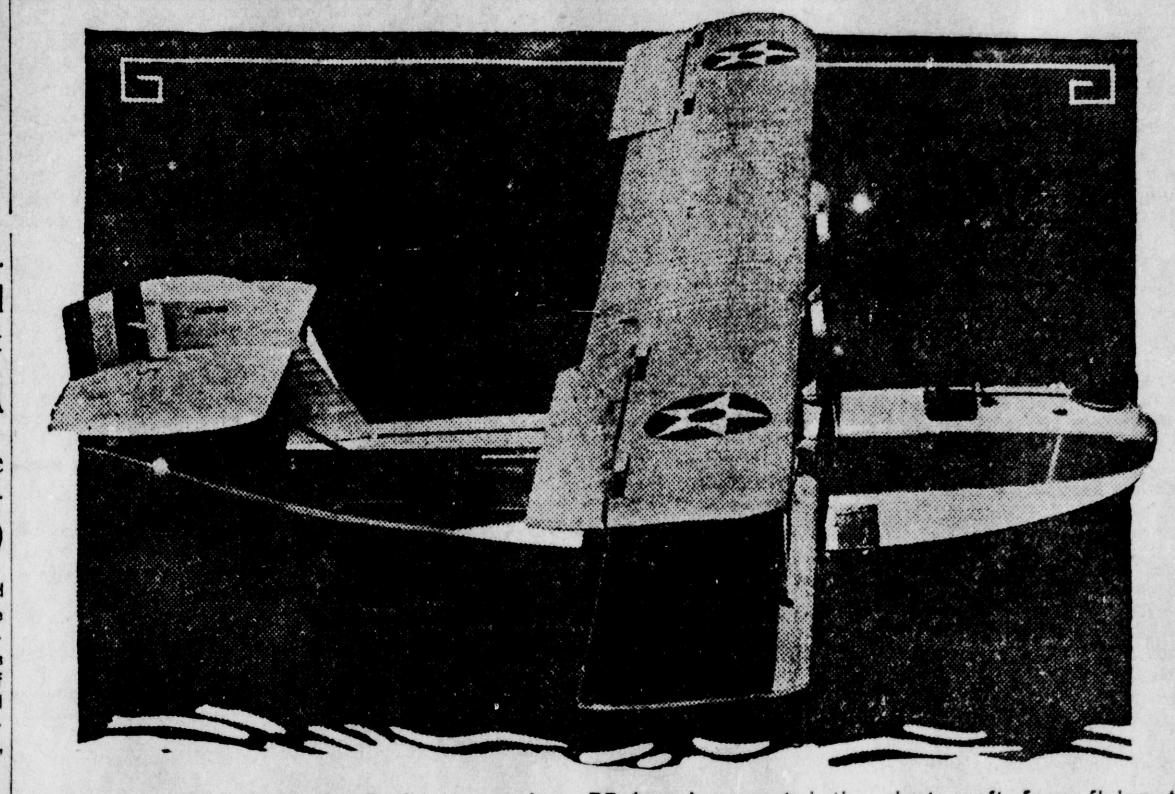

Gain in Postal Receipts
In 1895 the Santa Ana postal receipts were $9,441.78, compared to $136,708.28 in 1925.

In 1915 the total money represented by building permits taken out in the city was $283,901, compared to $2,226,218 in 1925.

The Santa Ana population estimate was arrived at through counting the number of gas meters, electric meters and water meters and the school registration, Raymer explained.

FOREST FIRES CHECKED
FRESNO, July 7.—Forest fires in the Tule and Kings river canyons, which have been burning uncontrolled for several days, are under control today, after burning over about 25,000 acres. The Bear creek fire, near Springville, also is reported under control.

PB-1 PLANE, ATTEMPTING NON-STOP FLIGHT FROM SEATTLE TO SAN DIEGO, FORCED DOWN

The fate which beset the Boeing navy plane PB-1 and prevented the giant craft from flying to Hawaii last year from San Francisco Bay, today again pursued the plane and interfered with her projected non-stop flight from Seattle to San Diego. The plane was forced down by engine trouble about 4:20 a. m., near Pillar point, in the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

COOLIDGES AT SUMMER CAMP IN MOUNTAINS

(By United Press)

PAUL SMITH, N. Y., July 7.—With the arrival of executive car No. 100, bearing President and Mrs. Coolidge, the summer White House was officially opened today at White Pine camp, the luxurious Adirondack camp of Irwin Kirkwood, Kansas City publisher.

An entourage of 20 or more cars threaded its way through the virgin woods from Gabriels, N. Y., where the presidential special train came to a halt after a 16-hour journey from Washington.

The president was in the best of spirits. Arriving at the camp, he stepped out with unusual celerity, and, leading Rob Roy, one of the White House colts, began a tour of inspection of his new home. He was followed by Mrs. Coolidge, leading the other colts, Miss Prudence Prim.

A brand new observation car, the latest in railway transportation, carried the president and Mrs. Coolidge. It was provided with four sleeping compartments and fitted with every possible comfort. Other cars of the train carried the regular complement of attaches and servants.

A severe thunderstorm beat on the train as it sped through southern Pennsylvania last night, but the president was in high spirits, breaking his usual reserve to chat at dinner—which he seldom does—and later watching a motion picture shown in the presidential car.

Receive No Word On Racing Yachts

HONOLULU, July 7.—Honolulu radio fans sat at their receiving apparatus throughout the night in the hope of catching signals from the mainland-bound racing yachts, but reported that their efforts were unrewarded.

The yachts sailed out of Honolulu Harbor early Sunday morning on their return race to San Francisco. Four boats started, the Invader, Poinsettia, Teva and Mariner. The first two are equipped with radio sending apparatus.

The Jubilo, long delayed in finishing the San Pedro-to-Honolulu race, the first half of the annual mainland-Hawaii classic, remained at Honolulu for overhauling.

Fifteen days will be required to finish the return race, skippers of the competing yachts believed.

U. S. Destroyer Picks Up Giant Craft in Straits Of Juan de Fuca

(By United Press)

BREMERTON, Wn., July 7.—The U. S. destroyer Melvin picked up Boeing navy plane PB-1, off Pillar point, in the Straits of Juan de Fuca, at 9:45 a. m., today, the navy radio station here was advised.

The plane, which left Sand Point field, Seattle, at 2:45 a. m., today, on a non-stop flight to San Diego, was forced to land because of engine trouble.

A message received at the navy radio here said the landing was made at 4:20 a. m.

Plane Is Rebuilt
The plane has been rebuilt since her unsuccessful attempted flight to the Hawaiian islands last year. She is said to be the greatest airplane ever constructed in the point of carrying capacity.

A crew of four men set out in the giant Boeing plane last night. Lt. Ralph E. Davidson, commander of the plane; Lt. R. B. Botta, engineer; Mechanic George Galley and H. A. Scott, radio operator. In addition, the plane was carrying Lt. Com. Eric L. Barr as a passenger.

Carried Half of Load
The big machine, with a wing span of 87 feet, was taking only about half of her maximum load capacity, as she swept into the Sand Point base. She was built to fly with approximately seven tons. Lieutenant Botta, under whose direction the plane was rebuilt, estimated it would require about 16 hours flying time to make the 1200-mile trip to San Diego.

Five destroyers had been stationed along the route to guard against emergencies, at Cape Meares, Cape Blanco, Cape Mendocino, Point Sur and Cape Conception.

LEAVES NEW YORK IN PLANE FOR SEATTLE

ROOSEVELT FIELD, NEW YORK, July 7.—Capt. H. H. Berry took off from Roosevelt field today in a Sikorsky airplane for Seattle. He will attempt to establish a record for cross-country flying. The plane got away at 9:10, daylight, saving time.

Lt. Com. Walter Hinton, noted naval aviator, and Robert E. Condon, president of the Junior National Chamber of Commerce, accompanied Berry as passengers. Jacob Isamoff, navigator and James Maxwell and Andrew Balief, mechanics, completed the party. Condon will leave the party at Omaha, while Hinton will make the trip to Seattle and return. If all goes well Omaha will be the first stop.

At Seattle, Berry will take aboard Edward S. Evans and Linton Wells, now president of the board of the National Chamber of Commerce, and will fly back to New York. They are attempting to set a record for travel around the world.

4 Chiropractors May Lose License

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—Four chiropractors have been summoned before the state board of chiropractic examiners, at its meeting in San Francisco next Monday.

Those who will be asked to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked, according to board members, are:

Er. Charles Brockman, Berkeley, Dr. Cecil Zicklin, Los Angeles, and Dr. Charles U. Wood, Los Angeles, all accused of fraud in obtaining licenses, and Dr. Frederick J. Oakes, San Francisco, charged with performing an illegal operation.

QUAKE SPREADS DEATH THROUGH JAVA, SUMATRA

(By United Press)

SAMARANG, Java, July 7.—Earthquake, death and damage tolls continued to mount today.

Two villages bordering on Lake Singkara were smashed by a huge wave during yesterday's quake and 41 persons, including 14 children, were drowned. Reports from the Padang highlands indicate that the casualties and damages of last week's shocks will exceed the estimates already made. News from isolated points is slowly trickling in.

(Messages received from Amsterdam yesterday estimated the earthquake dead in the Dutch East Indies at 400 persons.)

SUMATRA SHAKEN BY DEADLY QUAKE

AMSTERDAM, July 7.—Sumatra has been shaken by another deadly earthquake, according to dispatches received today from Padang. Fifteen persons are reported to have been killed in Soemboer and 27 in Padang. The additional damage in central Java is estimated at $1,000,000. Renewed earthquakes in Gokoeke have caused acute nervousness among inhabitants.

Arrests Increase 5000 During Year

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—Arrests for major offenses during the fiscal year just ended outnumbered those of the preceding 12 months by approximately 5000, according to Clarence S. Morrill, chief of the state bureau of criminal identification.

The total for the fiscal year now closed was 39,686, as against 34,927 for the previous 12 months.

Through the state's fingerprint system, 8111 prisoners were linked with crimes other than those for which they were arrested, Morrill said today.

Steamer Ashore; Calls for Help

BOSTON, July 7.—The steamship Ballona, a freighter, has gone ashore on Seal Island, off the Nova Scotia coast, and is in need of immediate assistance, according to a distress call picked up by radio here today. A subsequent wireless message stated that a tug had been dispatched from Yarmouth, N. S., to the ship's assistance.

ELECTION QUIZ COMMITTEE ENDS PENNSYLVANIA PROBE

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The senate primary investigating committee today closed its four weeks' inquiry into the $300,000 Pennsylvania primary and adjourned to meet in Chicago, July 26, to begin an inquiry into the Illinois senatorial race in which the committee has heard, a similar amount was spent.

The committee closed its sensational investigation with the testimony of Representative Morin, west state campaign manager for Senator William S. Vare, who won the Pennsylvania Republican senatorial nomination.

Morin, long sought as a witness, told how he had handled about $46,500 in cash for paying off workers in 17 west state counties.

S-51, IN TOW, RUNS ASHORE IN NEW YORK

Naval Authorities Rush Tugs to Scene in Effort to Float U. S. Submarine

NEAR END OF JOURNEY

Craft, Raised from Grave At Sea's Floor, Halted On Approaching Dock

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, July 7.—At what seemed the triumphant end of one of the greatest salvage operations ever undertaken in these waters, the submarine S-51, in tow for the Brooklyn navy yard, went aground today on Man-of-War Rock, within the confines of Great New York City.

Naval authorities immediately rushed tugs to the scene and officials stated they expected to float the craft shortly.

The submarine, which was drawing 35 feet of water in tow, lies at the foot of Borden avenue, Hunter's Point, Queens, and opposite Thirty-ninth street, Manhattan.

Carries Bodies of Sailors
Freighted with the bodies of more than 20 members of the crew who lost their lives when the submarine was rammed and sunk off Block Island, nine months ago, the S-51 was being towed here to be dry-docked.

She was raised from the ocean bottom Monday, after a previous salvage attempt had failed.

Every precaution was taken to assure the success of the 140-mile tow to New York City, believed the longest tow of its kind ever undertaken.

The submarine itself was not visible as the strange funeral cortege moved through the sparkling waters of East river this morning. Head-beamed sea-going naval vessels, flying the colors denoting a tow, were followed by huge bobbing pontoons, which floated low in the water. Slung saddle fashion on heavy wire haulers, the steel hull of the submarine was supported below the sea pontoons.

Pontoons Break Away

A radio message to the navy yard stated that two of the pontoons broke away at the time the submarine was grounded.

Once the craft reaches the navy yard, it is planned to burn away plates of the vessel with acetylene torches, permitting access to the compartments where the bodies of the dead crew lie.

The navy department at Washington has reconvened the court of inquiry into the disaster, with orders to proceed to Brooklyn today and make an immediate inspection of the ship.

The government not only hopes to recover the bodies of its officers and sailors who went down with the ship, but to salvage one of the navy's finest submarines, worth $4,000,000, and to gather evidence to determine responsibility for the disaster.

GRAFT PROBE MAY GO OVER TILL FALL

SIX hundred and twenty men have qualified for the posts left by striking motormen and switchmen and the company is training 175 more non-union men, 25 of whom arrived from western cities last night.

Fire on Steamer Finally Subdued

PORTLAND, Ore., July 7.—The McCormick line passenger steamer Newport was damaged to the extent of $5000 and the general cargo suffered a loss of approximately $1000, as the result of a fire which broke out early today.

After burning for four hours, the fire was controlled.

The ship was in the St. Johns drydock here when the blaze broke out. Shipping authorities are conducting an investigation to ascertain the cause of the fire.

2 Gangsters Nabbed In Herrin

HERRIN, Ill., July 7.—Possibility of further armed violence was seen here today with the arrest of two members of a gang, which, according to city officials, has terrorized Herrin for the last few months. Following a series of attacks on citizens who were afraid to make complaints, Ray Walker and "Blackie" Arms are under arrest and more arrests are promised by the sheriff's office and police of Herrin within the next few hours. Trouble last broke out in Herrin on April 13, when six were killed in rioting.

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Harry D. Hallenbeck, Arizona ranchman and former superintendent of construction at Angelus temple, had not been located by process-servers at an early hour this afternoon. He is wanted in connection with the grand jury investigation of Aimee Semple McPherson's story of her kidnaping and imprisonment. Hallenbeck wired authorities yesterday he would be in Los Angeles this morning in answer to the summons. Authorities here claim to have evidence that he was seen in the vicinity of Agua Prieta just prior to Mrs. McPherson's "return to life" in the Mexican village.

FEDERAL FRAUD INDICTMENT ON MILLER STANDS

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, July 7.—Federal Judge Julian Mack today refused to dismiss the indictment against former Allen Property Custodian Miller, charging him with defrauding the government.

Miller, Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general and the late John T. King, Republican committeeman from Connecticut, were indicted, charged with defrauding the government in connection with the return of seized property of the American Metals company, worth $7,000,000.

Specifically, the defendants are charged with a conspiracy to defraud the government out of its rights as distinguished from a conspiracy which defrauds the government out of money.

The motion to dismiss the indictment was based chiefly on a claim that the statute of limitations had run against the prosecution. The original statute had made prosecution impossible after three years. It was later amended to make the limit six years, but the amendment was made after the date of the alleged conspiracy.

While Daugherty took no part in the effort of Miller to have the indictment against him dismissed, it was believed that the ruling in the Miller case would result in trial of all defendants proceeding without further delay.

MORE TRAINMEN IN GOTHAM TO STRIKE

NEW YORK, July 7.—The second day of New York's subway strike opened with strikers announcing that electric railway strikers joining their ranks would leave their trains today and the Interborough Rapid Transit company simultaneously announcing a "war" to the strikers.

The public, meanwhile, joined in another unhappy scramble to work, getting down town by roundabout ways or on the I.R.T. services, which the company said were functioning at 60 per cent normal.

Davison on Way To Face Charges

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 7.—William Davison, charged with forging checks, is enroute to California today, following honoring of extradition papers by Governor Byrd. Davison, who caused a sensation in Washington with charges of an alleged liaison between western banks and bootleggers, said he was glad to have a chance to face his accusers.

Police say he is writing a new expose of the alleged banking-bootlegging situation.

SUICIDE DEATH IS VERDICT OF INQUEST JURY

That Lloyd Writeman, 27, Santa Ana, used car salesman, who committed suicide yesterday afternoon by shooting himself through the head, while seated in an automobile in front of his home, 208 North Ross street, first pointed the weapon at his wife, who was seated on the front porch of the home, was brought out today at the coroner's inquest into the death.

Miss Mabel Branch, sister of Mrs. Writeman, testified that she saw Writeman make such a motion with the weapon just prior to when she heard the shot that ended his life.

The jury returned a verdict of death with suicidal intent.

Members of the jury learned from testimony that the couple had been separated for several weeks, during which Writeman had made repeated attempts at reconciliation.

He attempted several times to have his wife come out into the automobile with him yesterday, just prior to shooting himself. Mrs. Writeman refused to go and said to have gone into the house when the husband pulled the gun from his pocket and pointed it toward her. Immediately afterward he shot himself in the head.

The gun used was a .32 calibre pistol. Only one shot was fired, although the gun had been fully loaded.

Funeral services will be held in the Winbiger Mission Funeral home at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, the Rev. A. G. Fessenden, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, San Bernardino, officiating. Burial will be made in Mount View cemetery, San Bernardino.

Draws 500 Days On Booze Charge

Joe Argot, 38, arrested at Laguna Beach on a charge of possession of liquor, was sentenced to 500 days in the county jail when he appeared before Judge Murphy, at Laguna Beach, yesterday afternoon. Ray Richards, 32, also charged with possession, demanded a jury trial when he appeared before Judge Murphy. His trial will take place tomorrow morning, at 10 o'clock.

A. E. CRAWFORD CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL OFFICE

Arthur E. Crawford, real estate broker, with offices at 123 East Wilshire avenue, Fullerton, today was announced as a candidate for the office of county superintendent of schools. His application for a nominating petition was received yesterday by County Clerk J. M. Backs.

Crawford appears as a "surprise" opponent for R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent, no previous intimation of his candidacy having been given, it is said. He is a realtor, contractor, lawyer and educator, who has lived in Fullerton for seven years and in California for 23 years.

Formerly a resident of Colorado, Crawford served as county superintendent of schools in Provers county, that state, being appointed to fill an unexpired term and then elected to succeed himself. He is a graduate of Longmont, Colo., high school, and of the Colorado university law school. Following his graduation from the university he was admitted to the bar in Colorado. He also taught school for several terms.

After coming to California, he was in the contracting business for 16 years in San Diego. Then he located in Fullerton. He is married and has four children, one son and daughter having graduated from Fullerton high school and two sons now being in school there.

BIOLOGIST SEES CLAM FISHERY EXTERMINATION

It is the opinion of William F. Herrington, assistant fisheries biologist of the state fish and game commission, that the valuable Pismo clam fishery, of San Luis Obispo county, instead of being in a very prosperous condition, as is the belief of most of the people in the Pismo Beach region, is, in fact, well on the road to extermination.

In an article to appear soon in the commission's publication, "California Fish and Game," Herrington describes how for years a census of the clam population on the San Luis Obispo beaches has been taken by members of the staff of the California state fisheries laboratory, San Pedro. These studies have disclosed the fact that the year 1919 was an extraordinarily successful spawning year for the clams. The clams of the year class made up 90 per cent of all the clams found on the beach up until the year 1923, when they constituted 82 per cent of the total population. In 1924, this percentage dropped to 58 per cent. In other words, the 1919 year class has passed out with no other abundant year class to take its place. The year class of 1924, or those hatched in 1924, are only one-tenth as abundant as were the clams of the 1919 year class. As this 1924 crop will not reach the legal size for two or three more years and then will be relatively small in number, the Pismo clam fishery is in for extermination if drastic action is not taken.

Herrington shows that this decrease in the number of clams on the beaches is not due to the activity of the commercial diggers, who can market only legal sized clams, but is almost entirely due to the activity of tourists and amateur diggers.

During the three years, 1923-1925, the census shows that the number of clams in one mile of beach was reduced by over 4,500,000, while during the same period the commercial diggers took less than 550,000 clams from all the beaches.

As the legal sized clams have about disappeared, tourists and amateurs will be more inclined to take the clams which have not yet reached the spawning age and unless some better method of protecting the immature clams can be devised than has been possible in the past, the clams of San Luis Obispo county will be virtually exterminated, as were the clams on Long Beach, Anaheim Beach and other beaches, where they once were abundant.

TREE BURIED DEEP

NEW YORK, July 7.—A cedar tree trunk, found 45 feet below the tide level of the Hudson river, in the foundation excavations for a skyscraper, is a relic of the glacial area. Experts have identified it as a species of red cedar that flourished in Europe about a millions years ago, but was never supposed to have lived in America until the present geological age.

FIND OLD FOOTPRINTS

DENVER, July 7.—Discoveries of footprints left in the Grand canyon that are at least 25,000,000 years old, have just been announced by Prof. Charles W. Gilmore, curator of vertebrate paleontology at the National museum. The tracks were 1800 feet below the rim and were those of some queer, extinct reptiles.

2 ARRESTED ON WEAPON CHARGE

M. E. Demond, 22, 1570 Cedar avenue, Long Beach, and T. V. Jones, also of Long Beach, are in the county jail, booked on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Bail has been set at $2000 each. The two men were arrested in Brea and lodged in jail by officers Brouse and Williams of Brea.

HISTORY OF CLARK FAMILY IS TOLD

RUTHE, Mont., July 7.—A similarity in names of relatives of the three Missouri women who claim daughters' shares in the $47,000 estate of the late Senator William A. Clark, and relatives of the recognized children of Senator Clark, was brought out today at trial of the women's suit to determine heirship.

Under cross-examination by John Shelton, of the claimants' counsel, Charles W. Clark, elder son of Senator Clark and president of the United Verde Mining company, today stated that his father's mother's name was Mary Andrews, the name which the three claimants gave to their grandmother on their father's side. Clark was presented with the family record in the Bible of Senator Clark's family and was shown that the name of one of Senator Clark's sisters was Effie Ellen Clark. One of the three Missouri claimants is Effie Clark McWilliams.

Both the William A. Clark, of Missouri, and Senator Clark, of Montana, had a brother, Joseph Mark, according to the testimony, and today Shelton pointed out to the Montana capitalist's son that the page which bears the record of names of Senator Clark's brothers and sisters carries the name of John Reed Clark. The three Missouri women's testimony showed that they also had an uncle, John Clark.

Occidental Prof Gets Post Abroad

PASADENA, July 7.—Dr. John Carruthers, professor of religious education at Occidental college, announced today that he had been appointed research specialist on religious and social education by a committee of New York business men, to study the conditions in Asia Minor, Greece, Syria and Palestine. He will sail from New York July 17, for Berlin.

Prior to engaging in that work, he will be a member of a board of 20 economists to visit Russia for a critical investigation of economic conditions in that country. Admission of the board to Russia has been obtained.

Revision of Fruit Laws Is Proposed

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—A movement to have the next state legislature revise the laws on fruit standardization is under way.

Meetings with committees representing the growers of various fruits, including pears, plums and cherries, have been held here by sub-committees of the agricultural legislative committee representing farmers, of which C. C. Teague is president.

Suggestions on revision and simplification will be referred to a state-wide committee, to be named by Teague for the purpose of bringing the proposed changes before the legislature.

Arguments Open In Durkin Case

CHICAGO, July 7.—Closing arguments in the trial of Martin J. Durkin, on trial for killing Federal Agent Edwin C. Shanahan, were started this afternoon with Assistant State's Attorney Romano delivering the first of the state's arguments to the jury.

ITALIAN LIRA DROP

LONDON, July 7.—Italian lira fell to a new low record on the bourse today when it was quoted at 145 1-4 to the pound sterling. The previous low point was recorded July 1, 1925, when the lira was quoted at 145.

"PALACE SQUARE"

HONOLULU, July 7.—Because the name "Civic Center" smacked much of mainland city style, Honolulu is advocating a more romantic title for its municipal locality, "Palace Square" is favored. The center of the plaza is occupied by Iolani palace, where Hawaiian royalty held sway before the country was annexed to the United States.

OPENS RICH AREA

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A territory of 3533 square miles of rich farmland and pasture land is opened up by the permit of the interstate commerce commission to the Dodge City and Cimarron Valley railroad to build an extension from Manter, Kas., to a point near Joycox, Colo. Less than 1 per cent of the area is in timber.

See Hallenbeck's Photo

Authorities have shown Hallenbeck's photograph to garageman, a hotel clerk and the depot agent at Douglas. All three, it was said, made identical replies to police questioning.

Hallenbeck, in a previous statement to authorities, is said to have placed himself in entirely different locations on the dates mentioned.

Subpoena Served on Aimee

Subpoenas were served on Mrs. McPherson and 13 other persons today, preliminary to the grand jury investigation, starting tomorrow, of the evangelist's famous kidnapping story.

In addition, telegraphic requests to come here and appear before the grand jury were sent to Mayor Ernesto Boubion and Chief of Police Silvero Villa, of Agua Prieta, the Mexican village where Mrs. McPherson made a dramatic reappearance five weeks after her supposed drowning in the surf.

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, and Miss Emma Schaffer, secretary, were among those summoned. Others included Mrs. McPherson's children, Rolf and Roberta, and A. W. Arthur, financial secretary of Angelus temple.

The grand jury probe, scheduled to get under way at 10 a. m. tomorrow, will have, in addition to the testimony of witnesses, the lengthy reports of officials of Douglas, Ariz., and Agua Prieta, Sonora, where exhaustive investigations of Mrs. McPherson's story were completed.

Churchmen Demand Probe

The Los Angeles Church federation, representing the Protestant churches here, went on record today with a vigorous set of resolutions demanding, "in fairness to the public," a widespread and official investigation of Mrs. McPherson's story.

"Either a crime of most terrible nature has been perpetrated against Mrs. McPherson or else a fraud and hoax that is a shame to Christianity have been attempted," said the resolution.

"Any effort to shield the kidnapers of Mrs. McPherson, if she was kidnaped, or to shield her and any who conspired with her if she was not kidnaped, would constitute a crime against decency and righteousness."

Aimee Discovers Reports

Reports from Tucson, Ariz., that Mrs. McPherson had been identified from photographs as the woman seen in a blue sedan at the International club, at Agua Prieta, five days before her "return to life," were discounted today by the evangelist.

"How ridiculous," she said. "Imagine anybody saying they had seen me coming out of a roadhouse. There have been so many of these reports of my having been seen in various places that it seems almost useless to deny them—I have no way of positively disproving them."

"This latest story is of the same stripe as all the others."

The good work that a good motor oil does goes on where you cannot see it—it must be "taken on faith."

That faith must be in the refiner more than in the oil, because most oils look alike when you buy them.

In "Union Oil of California" you can have faith because it has a forty-three-year old reputation to protect in the products it sells, one of which is

Aristo Motor Oil

Non-Carbonizing Western

Aristo Motor Oil is all lubrication, containing neither paraffin nor asphalt. The hard, flinty abrasive "carbon" that many motorists find on valves, cylinder heads and spark plugs after a few thousand miles of use never comes from this fine Western oil.

The small amount of residue that Aristo leaves is a fine, soft, fluffy substance, most of which blows out with the exhaust.

Motors in good condition which are lubricated with Aristo, therefore, run several years without the troubles, lay-ups and expense so often due to "carbon."

A further preventative of "carbon" is the use of non-detonating Union Gasoline with Aristo Motor Oil. This combination is probably the most effective that is known.

Some Things We Must Do

In the U. S. the word MUST is not popular. We are a free people. In spite of all that our freedom is relative only. We are free so long as what we do does not conflict with the rights of others. As to ourselves, we are free to hurt ourselves, to overeat, to neglect our health, to let our teeth decay, etc. But somewhere, sometime, we MUST pay for it in a certain coin. In the case of neglected teeth it is the coin of pain, rheumatism, neuritis, etc.

No Cheap Work Done Here

Please distinguish between CHEAP and LOW PRICED. A thing that costs the most is often the most economical. A friend of ours has a watch 75 years old that keeps excellent time and is seldom repaired. So it is with good dental work. The best of work is none too good. And the best of work is what you get in this office. We have arranged it so that many of the customary expenses of a dental office are reduced to a minimum. These savings we pass on to our patrons. That makes it possible for you to get the highest class of dentistry at the very lowest possible price.

ALCOHOL CAUSE OF DEATH, SAYS JURY

Death from alcoholism was the verdict of a coroner's jury in an inquest over the body of Jack O'Brien, Irvine ranch employee, who died in the Orange County hospital Monday night, being found unconscious in a hotel room in Huntington Beach.

The man, believed by physicians to have drunk a quantity of poison liquor, lived for 12 hours after he was found on the floor of his room by the proprietress of the hotel, Mrs. Ida Ewing.

Funeral services have not been arranged, pending the arrival of O'Brien's mother from her home in Montana.

FRIEND SOUGHT IN CONNECTION WITH SLAYING

With sheriff's officers, led by Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, scouring Orange county for the murderer of Francisco Vasquez, Mexican orange picker, whose body was found lying in a road one mile north of El Modena Monday afternoon, a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of "death from gun shot wounds with intent to kill by a gun in the hands of an unknown party."

That hatred and probable jealousy on the part of another Mexican was the cause for the slaying of Vasquez is the contention of officers working on the case, who are searching for a friend of the dead man, who, it is thought, will be able to throw some light on the murder.

The name of the man sought is being withheld by McClellan until after he has had an opportunity to interview him.

Vasquez' body was found by A. S. Mendelhall, of the Mendelhall ranch, who notified authorities. The man had been dead several hours, when found. In his right hand he held a six-inch dagger and there were signs of a struggle in the road around where the body was found, it was reported.

Officers were busy last night questioning several women, pictures of some of whom were found in a pocket of the dead man's coat. Officers would release no information in regard to what the women said.

Inquest into the death of Vasquez was conducted yesterday afternoon by Coroner Charles Brown, in the Gillingly funeral parlors, Orange.

Mountain Camps Are Kept Clean, Warden Discovers

"Nearly everybody who goes into the mountains these days is a good camper," declared Robert Shaw, fire warden in the Santiago canyon. Shaw said that scores of camps in the Santiago and its branch canyons were visited by him and his deputy over the Fourth, and that everywhere they found trash cleaned away from campfires and every camper, before leaving camp, had put out his fire.

"It was a fine example of co-operation," said Shaw. "It is the careless camper who is a menace. We are watching close for automobile drivers who toss lighted cigar or cigarette stubs out of their machines."

Mexicans Injured In Auto Accident

Porfirio Munios, Stanton Mexican, suffered a broken leg and a companion was cut and bruised in an automobile accident at 6:45 a. m. today, at Stanton, according to a report made to the sheriff's office.

The accident occurred when a machine, driven by L. E. Sweetser, 1829 West First street, Santa Ana, collided with the Munios machine at an intersection, according to the report.

The Mexicans were taken to the Orange County hospital. Neither is said to be seriously hurt.

Butterflies and Roses Form Dinner Motif

Mrs. Charles McMann, of New York City, who is a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Rowley, of 722 South Main street, forgot the inconvenience of a broken arm, which she suffered in a fall recently in the joys of a delightful celebration of her birthday last Sunday.

The Rowley home was a symphony in pink on the happy occasion. A sumptuous dinner was served at 2:30 o'clock when the festal board was centered with a low bowl filled with pink butterfly roses combined with feathery maiden hair. Dainty pink baskets, about which fluttered tiny butterflies, held the candies and nuts. About the electrolights, whose lights shed a soft glow over the room, from which the sunlight had been excluded, cool fronds of asparagus ferns were twined with the butterflies in evidence.

Mrs. McMann was showered with many lovely gifts and felicitations for more happy anniversaries. Those for whom covers were laid at dinner including the hosts, the honoree and her husband, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McMann of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Lemmon of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams and little daughter, Patricia Jeanne Adams of Hollywood.

Following dinner the merry company enjoyed an automobile drive to points of interest about the county.

Alluring Beauty

NOT a gift of the Gods—
but something within reach of all

PERFECT the surface of your skin, and you literally perfect all. For a clear skin, free from unsightly tan, freckles, redness, sallowness and other blemishes and imperfections, is the first and major step toward securing alluring beauty for your own sweet little self. The serenity displayed by alluring beauties is theirs because they feel so secure. They know that when the powder blows off, their skin will show no hideous imperfections. They have eradicated the unsightly blemishes by persistent and intelligent care. And this, you too can do. The secret lies in the regular use of El Estado Lemon Cleansing Cream. It is just what another cream—it is a famous Spanish formula, made from real Lemon Oil—contains none of those harmful "bleach-quick" synthetic acid imitations. It goes to the source of skin troubles, whitens the skin gradually, corrects the over-activity of the pigment, and cleans the pores as no other cream you heretofore have used. Nearly all toilet goods counters feature genuine El Estado Lemon Cleansing Cream in dollar jars, but should you wish to try it before you buy it, we will gladly mail you a free sample. * * * El Estado Products Co., Seattle, Washington.

Women Tell

Others how this new hygienic pad discards easily as tissue—no laundry

BECAUSE one woman so advises others, and because doctors so urge, most women are deserting the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new and better way.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

KOTEX
No laundry—discard like tissue

Having disposed of a considerable amount of ticks during the last month, I have decided to push a brand of ticks. These ticks are, without doubt, superior to any found elsewhere, and I am making a special inducement to those who have invested in the ticks. Free illustrated lecture daily.

SCOUTS LEAVE FOR TWO-WEEK CAMP MEETING

Fifty-five Boy Scouts of Orange county left here this morning for an outing at Camp RoKilla. Roland Dye, county scout executive, accompanied the boys.

A larger enrollment than last year is assured for the camp. The boys who were on their way to camp today will remain for two weeks. Dye will be back in Santa Ana as soon as camp arrangements are completed and Dana Lamb will be in charge as camp director.

Improvements have been made at the camp, including installation of a shower and the building of a new entrance gate.

Camp officials, in addition to Lamb, are:

Gene Douglas, camp director; Don Kester, quartermaster; Billy Rhinehart, camp scribe; Bill Reed, cook; Clark Sackman, assistant cook; Herold Goddard, truck driver.

The second camp period will be from July 21 to August 4 and the third camp will be conducted from August 4 to August 18.

The scouts who went to camp today were divided into two groups. At 4 o'clock this morning, the following boys started from Huntington Beach:

Kiyoshi Hiroshi, Terrill Hunter, Frederick Davis, Glen Sharp, George K. Phinney, Charles Vavra, Edward Brown, Joe Henry Vavra, Charles Sarabae, Anthony Mollica, Wilbur Griffin, James Griffin, Orville L. Richey, Virgil Brewster, James Brown, Sidney Schwartz, Robert Dunfee, Edwin Gaylor, Fred W. Young, Clyde Hunter, Harold Pangle.

The second group, leaving from Santa Ana, included William Friend, Jack McFadden, Chester Cook, Sam Teel, Joe Teel, Lawrence Patterson, Richard Kaufman, Carl Bower, Albert Wilkinson, Verne Wilson, Harry Clanton, Gordon Dibble, Lawrence Lane, Gilbert Meisinger, Ernest Zimmerman, Robert Burchfield, Kenneth Hunt, George H. Conway, Charles Arrowsmith, Merton Butler, Tom Griffith, George Haskell, Roland R. Borge, Harvey Sutherland, Edward Shepherd, Bert Devenum Jr., Ralph Kennedy, Oscar Patmor, Willard McLaughlin, Donald Stafford, Raymond Miller, Melvin Fox, Boyd Dickson, Gilbert Schweizer.

Mrs. C. O. Bainbridge, her son, Wilfred L. Bainbridge, his wife and baby daughter, Marilyn, arrived yesterday by automobile from Phoenix, Ariz., to spend the summer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ashen, 1515 French street. Mrs. C. O. Bainbridge and Mrs. Ashen are sisters.

Mrs. R. N. Ellis and her children, Peggy and Buddy Ellis, of 1502 French street, have returned from a pleasant three weeks' sojourn at Lokoya lodge, Napa county, making the trip in company with Mrs. Ellis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Van Rensselaer, of Glendale.

Mrs. J. T. Lacy, of 1507 French street, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kelley, of 1119 West Fourth street, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stearns, of 1010 Orange avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan Clary returned this morning from a trip to Rock Creek in the high Sierras, having been away ten days.

Charles Burris, of the Santa Ana fire department, and Mrs. Burris, of 1314 West Third street, returned on Sunday last from a vacation trip lasting two weeks, the time being spent in the Feather river country.

V. M. Rowley, of 723 South Main street, who has gone to Yreka on a business and pleasure jaunt, writes Mrs. Rowley that he enjoyed a fine fishing trip on July 2, hooking eighteen fine trout, some weighing two and a half pounds.

Mrs. Ebbie O. Scheetz, of Tustin, was an outgoing passenger today via the Union Pacific, making a trip to Marshalltown, Ia.

J. B. Dunn, of 131 Bachman Drive, left Santa Ana this afternoon over the Union Pacific bound for Greeley and Denver, Colo., to visit for about three months.

Little Miss Nadine Boggs, of Whittier, who has been spending the past two weeks as a guest at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. George H. Dobson, 1049 West Fifth street, returned to her home last evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boggs, who have returned from a participation in a gasoline economy run to San Francisco and Livermore, at which latter place they attended a rodeo. They returned by way of Santa Cruz and Monterey. Mr. and Mrs. Boggs were accompanied on the trip by Miss Isabel George and Jack Carter, both of Whittier.

Dr. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church, Mrs. Russell and their daughter, Miss Virginia Russell, of 1013 Spurgeon street, are enjoying the month of July on a vacation journey to the Yosemite valley, Monterey and the vicinity of Carmel. At the latter place they will visit the art gallery, Miss Virginia Russell being an art student.

Dr. G. M. Tralle and Mrs. Tralle, of 311 South Main street, have as their guest their distinguished brother, Dr. Henry Edward Tralle, of New York, head of the extension department of Columbia university and the author of many educational books, the latest to leave the press being "The Dynamics of Religious Education." Dr. Tralle is also a Chautauqua lecturer of note. The congregation of the First church has been fortunate in hearing Dr. Tralle last Sunday at both services, and he will appear at prayer meeting this evening and again on Sunday next.

Miss Mildred Marchant, secretary of the Santa Ana Valley Baptist Young People's association, the Misses Laura Joiner, Edna Ingham and Merle Williams went to Los Angeles today to attend the international convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America to be held in the First Methodist church, Eighth and Hope streets, from July 7 to 11. It is expected that 8000 delegates will attend. On Thursday a large delegation from Santa Ana will leave here at 8 p. m., headed by the assistant pastor, Harry A. Kern.

Guy C. Gilbert was in Montebello today where he talked on "Principles and Ideals of Life Insurance" before the Montebello Rotarians at their weekly luncheon.

Miss Maxine Gidcomb, 1102 West Pine street, is spending part of her vacation at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McGaffey, former Santa Anans who are now residing in Santa Monica. Miss Maxine is having a happy time with her two little cousins, Kathryn and Harriet Ann McGaffey.

Mrs. W. A. West and daughter, Mrs. W. H. Mize, were home today from a ten days' outing at Gilman's Hot Springs, near San Jacinto.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kendall and family, of Oakland, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Kendall, of 311 Cypress street. Herbert Kendall is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Kendall.

C. H. Andrews spent Sunday and Monday with his family, at 1503 Spurgeon street. Mr. Andrews is employed at Long Beach.

Miss R. M. Walter, of 1619 French street, boarded a Union Pacific train today, her destination being Missoula and Billings, Mont.

Miss Catherine Walker, who makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nau of Tustin, is taking a vacation trip to Chicago, and was a passenger via the Union Pacific route today.

Having planned a delightful and extended summer trip, Mr. and Mrs. P. Lander left over the Santa Fe yesterday morning for Chicago, stopping enroute to view the Grand Canyon. Among other eastern metropolitan centers to be visited will be Philadelphia, where the sesqui-centennial is now being celebrated, and Niagara Falls will call for a stop. Enroute home the travelers will visit Denver and Royal Gorge.

Steele Finley, well known contractors, and his two daughters, the Misses Caroline and Ruth Finley, of 2112 North Main street, were out-going Santa Fe passengers yesterday. Mr. Finley will stop over in Ravinia, S. D. while his daughters proceed to Chicago, where they will be joined later by their father. The eastern visit will occupy two months.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schonberg, of 1002 North Broadway, returned this morning from their trip north, having been away almost three weeks. Mrs. Schonberg was a delegate to the Grand Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, in Sacramento, after which she joined her husband in an Francisco and they spent a happy time visiting relatives and old friends in their former old home and vicinity.

Mrs. H. M. Robertson and Mrs. Mina King of Tustin, are booked by the Francis Westgate Steamship company to sail on the H. F. Alexander on Friday next for a trip to Tacoma, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. May, of 909 South Birch street, left yesterday for Catalina Island, where they will sojourn for a week. They were booked by the Francis Westgate agency here.

The Misses Mary Banks and Agnes Lieberman are enjoying this week with an outing at Balboa.

Miss Ada Burgess, of the book-keeping department of the Pacific Southwest bank, is leaving tomorrow to spend a week's vacation on Catalina Island.

The condition of William Bunker, of 1210 West Third street, who has been very ill, is reported as much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Layton and son, Glen, of 1252 West Fifth street, spent the Fourth of July holidays at Forest Home.

Guests last Wednesday and Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gipson, 1212 West Third street, were Mrs. Gipson's daughter, Mrs. Elroy M. Johnson, and Norman and Wilfred Layton, of Inglewood. Mr. and Mrs. Gipson joined the Johnson household for the week-end holidays.

ANNOUNCE STAGE SCHEDULE CHANGE

Stages from the Motor Transit depot in Santa Ana will make 22-minute connections with the northern end of the county between the hours of 5:15 and 7:30 in the morning, according to changes announced effective today by C. Ulyatt, in charge of the Santa Ana depot.

The new schedule was arranged to provide a means for workmen in Santa Ana to reach their places of employment at the required hour. Ulyatt said that the Fullerton station will have a continual 22-minute service with Los Angeles.

Transfers will have to be made from some of the busses, leaving Santa Ana on the short line, at the Fullerton terminal. It was said. Both the short line, through Norwalk and Santa Fe Springs, and the Whittier route will be operated.

HEALS ALL SKIN ILLS

Zemo Soothes, Heals, Gives Instant Relief

All skin troubles quickly disappear with the use of Zemo. Often a single application heals minor blemishes over night. Zemo is a cleansing, antiseptic liquid that penetrates below the surface and quickly stops itching, burning, chafing and all skin sores and eruptions. It does not show and is ideal for daylight use. For preventive application, use Zemo ointment, which has the same healing and soothing properties. As a preventive of skin troubles use Zemo soap, antiseptic, fragrant; will keep your skin white and cool. Every good drug store supplies Zemo. 60c and $1.00.—Adv.

PLANE'S FUNCTION IN WARFARE TOLD

"To that nation which has the supremacy of the air will be given the right to make the terms of peace," said Col. R. J. Faneuf, of Los Angeles, in his talk before the Santa Ana Air club Tuesday night. Colonel Faneuf gave a thorough resume of the history of the "heavier than air" craft.

"The function of the plane in warfare is divided into two classes, security and information and combat."

"Under the first class, we have 'scouting' planes, fitted with cameras, which will give the best possible information as to the enemy's strength and position. As a message carrier it cannot be equalled. The photography from scouting planes gives the best possible data to the field artillery and by the aid of the scouting planes they can fire the long distance guns and hit the mark accurately. Aerial photography will always play a very important part in war."

Under the second division, "Combat" planes are used for observation purposes, spotting shots and directing the gun captain where to aim. With the aid of artillery to see the target—the planes are the eyes of the artillery.

Clarence O. Prest, of Riverside, gave an account of his recent flight to Prescott, Ariz. Prest was forced down on the desert when he ran out of water. He abandoned his plane and walked about 25 miles to the nearest habitation. Enroute he had the interesting experience of eating live fish, which, he claimed, saved him from having to run down a rabbit or two. Prest reached a little ranch house at about day-break the following morning after his all-night walk. At the ranch he hired a horse to take him to another place where a man owned an automobile—and he rode into Blythe in this auto over what he claims was the roughest road in the country. Prest at one time held the American altitude record, of 18,000 feet.

ENGINEER BELIEVED DROWNED IN OCEAN

The belief that Charles Baber, 45, Riverside engineer, who disappeared at Laguna Beach over the holiday period, was drowned, gained ground today, after searchers had spent all day yesterday and part of last night searching for the man.

Baber arrived in Laguna Sunday night. When he was unable to secure a room, he told friends that he planned to sleep on the beach. The next morning, his shoes and sleeping bag were found at Diver's cove. Tracks leading to the water were found by searchers.

According to friends, Baber had no reason to commit suicide. Baber was not a particularly good swimmer and it is thought that he got into an undertow and was unable to fight his way back to shore.

Don't forget KFI lecture, 9 and 10 tonight.

Commemorate The Big Day With a Gift

There is only one answer to any gift question: Choose the gift that speaks the heart of the giver and adequately honors the occasion of the gift.

There are short-lived tokens which say "Good work, my lady!" or "Well done, my lady!"

But the selection at Ewert's need not be expensive. At modest cost, there are exquisite pendants, elegant rings or toilet sets for daughter and gold or silver pocket knives, cuff links or scarf pins for son.

Sixteenth Birthday Is Celebrated by Classmates

ER sixteenth birthday was made a happy occasion indeed for Miss Eleanor Redmond, whose classmates in the senior high department of the First Presbyterian Sunday school conspired to celebrate the day without her knowledge.

However, Miss Eleanor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Redmond, were taken into the conspiracy, so aided by arranging to be at home on the evening in question—Saturday, July 3. Mrs. Hugh Miller, class teacher, made a friendly little call at the Redmond home in the early hours of the evening, and while the unsuspecting young birthday maid was chatting with her, there came a second ring at the bell. When she opened the door, her friends entered in single file, to her unaccounted surprise.

After birthday greetings were extended, the evening's merriment continued with a series of games. At a late hour Mrs. Redmond produced a delectable birthday cake which was served with ice cream. A little period of gift-giving was highly enjoyable to all. Miss Redmond was presented with a huge box which was filled with layer upon layer of paper. When this was finally removed, she found an attractive candy box with a birthday greeting card. She read the card and thanked the girls for the candy, but when the box was opened the candy was missing. Instead other boxes were disclosed until the last and smallest finally revealed a wee pig which was made strangely life-like by a fly imprisoned in its inner anatomy. The real gift of the class, a pretty boudoir lamp, was presented with far less ceremony, but occasioned even more pleasure.

Enjoying the happy event with Miss Redmond were her parents and teacher, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Redmond and Mrs. Hugh Miller, her brother, Lloyd Redmond of Los Angeles, who was accompanied by Miss Charlotte Chase, and the Misses Margaret Mercereau, Hazel Crawford, Velda Fraser, Corinne Nelson, Mary Ford, Allen Lair, Eleanor Randall and Edith Holm all of this city, and Miss Fern Irwin of Fullerton.

Cooling Drinks For Sizzling Hot Days

Variety in serving, like a new dress on an old friend, is a pleasant surprise for the family. Instead of the usual, why not serve one of these easily prepared summer drinks, which combine refreshment with properties of healthful food value?

Strawberry (or Raspberry) Milk Shake

Mix 2 tablespoons of syrup (made as follows) with 1 cup of chilled milk.

Syrup:—Use one-half as much sugar as usual and prepared fresh berries, water to cover. Cook until berries are softened, then wash and strain them through cheese cloth. Canned berries or jams may be used.

Egg Milk Shake

1 egg
1 cup milk
Vanilla or nutmeg
Beat egg
Add milk and flavoring
Chill and serve.

Chocolate Milk Shake

1 tablespoon cocoa paste
1 cup milk
Mix milk and cocoa paste
Chill and serve.

Caramel Milk Shake

Mix 2 tablespoons of caramel syrup with 1 cup chilled milk.

To make caramel syrup:—In a saucepan, melt 1 cup sugar until light brown, stirring constantly; add 1 cup boiling water, and cook until a thick syrup is formed.

Fruit Juice in Summer Drinks

Fruit Punch No. 1

9 oranges
6 lemons
1 cup grated pineapple
1 cup raspberry syrup
1 1/2 cups of tea infusion
1 1/2 cups of sugar
1 cup of boiling water
1 quart of Apollinaris.

Punch No. 2

1 tbsp. of tea to 3 cups of boiling water.

2 cups of sugar
6 lemons
2 oranges
Use one-half of water and sugar to make syrup; the other half for tea.

Punch No. 3

5 oranges
5 lemons
1 can of pineapple
1 cup of tea infusion
1 quart of strawberries or 2 cups of strawberry juice
2 cups sugar
1 pint water.

Use of tea as a base for fruit punches is not necessary but brings out the flavor of the juices. It is important that this tea be made so as not to extract any of the stimulating qualities. Follow this formula:

1 tbsp. of tea to 3 cups of boiling water.

Put tea in strainer, pour water over it.

Do not allow it to steep.

Bobbed hair has wrecked the hair market of France, and the girls of Limousin, Dauphine and other small villages and towns, who used to make handsome sums by the sale of their tresses, are left lamenting.

MIDSUMMER BRIDES OF AULD LANG SYNE

Two brides of long ago; left, the bouffant taffeta and fluted flounces of the 1870's with a crown and necklace of orange blossoms. Right, the many petaled satin gown and the demure bangs of the late 1880's.

Once upon a time brides stepped from their coaches at the church door timidly.

Once upon a time, they blushed and fluttered and drooped their lashes as they went down the aisle.

But those days are gone forever! And there is only Jerome—old Jerome of Sherry's—to mourn them.

In his 37 years as doorman and butler to the 400 of New York, he has seen the wedding ceremony go down the long trail from high solemnity and sentiment to the casual, almost indifferent mode of ultra-modernism.

Life is a dwindling for Jerome. He has seen the orange blossoms depart, along with crinoline sleeves and the "till death do us part" idea.

"Oh, but the orange blossom wreaths used to be elegant," he laments. "The whole church smelled like a Florida grove! 'Now—they wear orchids just because they cost a lot. I don't like 'em.'"

And the gracious old Victorians and the magnificent horses! "Why, brides used to come driving up in their open carriages and it was a sight for the passer-by."

"But now, a big limousine swoops down, and a bride jumps out and runs into the church or hotel—and nobody gets a glimpse of her."

In the old days, when there was a wedding dinner at Sherry's there were coachmen leading spanking bays up and down the street all evening. But now, crumbles of Jerome, even a motor car cannot find a parking place.

The ways of the 1926 girl are hard on Jerome's nerves. Cigarettes and flasks—he abominates them.

"Why, a bride will get out of her car and come right into the church with a cigaret in her mouth," he exclaims. "And she laughs and jokes all the time with no reverence—no reverence at all!"

And the Tears!

Then there are the tears of yesterday. "Seems like they don't think anything of marriage any more," says Jerome. "They don't break down and cry like they used to. Why, I've seen aristocratic brides faint in the vestry, in the old days, they took it so hard."

"Taking it hard" seems to be desirable in Jerome's opinion. "If they took it serious, they wouldn't be getting divorced so quick," he maintains.

The informal clothes of 1926 distress him, too. Twenty years ago, he says, no man would have been admitted at a formal wedding without a top hat. Frock coats were the vogue, where now the cut-away rules.

When Jerome was new at the wedding business, high noon was the fashionable hour for the ceremony. Then, after a "light collation," and an hour or two of dancing, everybody went home, peacefully and respectably.

But now—well New York smart set weddings are lengthy and lively affairs, sometimes lasting until morning.

Wine In Plenty

The "light collation" of old consisted of such formidable dishes as terrapin, aspic de foie gras, chateauford de Homard and petites maitres en caisses. Twenty or more such items made up a single menu at a really smart wedding.

There were, of course, wines and liqueurs in plenty, and a great punch bowl of trappist cafe, which is no longer seen at weddings. But with twenty or thirty wines to choose from, no guest would so insult the bride as to get drunk.

When the granddaughter of President Grant married Prince Cantacuzene 27 years ago, Jerome took the cake from New York to Newport by boat and cut it for her guests.

When her daughter married Bruce Smith in Washington last October, it was Jerome who again escorted the cake as Sherry's ambassador. The bride's mother introduced him to the guests and told the story of her own wedding.

Next to the June wedding, the "deep winter" wedding was the most popular in Jerome's youth. When the elite of New York lived in Washington Square, the Christmas wedding meant a din of sleigh bells through the narrow streets and brides rosy in furs. Since society moved to the "sneering sixties," not a sleigh bell has been heard.

You can't have a deep winter wedding without snow. And the old snows have gone the way of the orange blossoms.

The ideal honeymoon of Jerome's era was a trip to Niagara Falls. The traveling dress was gray alpaca or shot silk, with a plumed gray bonnet lined with rose. Brides were easy enough to spot in those days.

Charivari Is Changed

The charivari, with rice and shoes and serpentine, singled out the party to the public. Jerome admits today's charivari is a gentler affair, with rose petals and confetti for missiles.

He recalls weddings in the nineties when guests roped off the stairs to impede the escape of the bride and groom, and the farewell became a roughhouse.

But even this old custom Jerome seems faintly to regret. For it belonged to the days when divorce was a misfortune, and champagne was Gieseler, and brides left a trail of faint violet scent behind them as they paced down the aisle—in- stead of a wreath of cigaret smoke!

In addition to the successful pastorate maintained here by Mr. Harter, the ministerial family contribute to the city's civic work in admirable fashion. Mrs. Harter's Americanization work has proven invaluable and Miss Elise, the young daughter of the home, aids in her music, by playing at the various classes, that the foreign students may also learn to sing.

Young Married People Enjoy Jolly Picnic

The Young Married People's class of the First Baptist Sunday school enjoyed a jolly picnic in Hewes park last evening, thirty members making the trip by automobile.

A delicious supper was enjoyed at fresco, after which the evening hours were passed with merry games. William Hazen is president of the class and A. R. Marshall is the teacher.

Family Departs on Eastern Motor Trip

Due to the kindness of his congregation of the United Brethren church in granting him an extended vacation, the Rev. Logan Harter with Mrs. Harter and their children, left yesterday on an interesting automobile journey back to Millersburg, Ind., where they will visit the Rev. Mr. Harter's father and other relatives.

Later they will continue their travels to Dayton, Ohio. It will be Mr. Harter's first trip home for nine years and the two younger children of the family will have the pleasure of making the acquaintance of their grandfather, whom they have never seen. The trip east will be made by the southern route but the return will be by the northern route and they will stop at Gridley, Calif., for the annual conference of the church.

Group of Girls Plan Interesting Trip To Hawaii

SAILING Saturday on the S. S. Calawall for Honolulu, Miss Corinne Skiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Skiles, 207 West Twentieth street, will have several delightful weeks in the islands in company with two close friends, Miss Hulda McAuley of Long Beach and Miss Esther Parker of Napa.

The three travelers have an interesting itinerary mapped out for the first three weeks when they will take a trip to Hilo and visit the volcano Kilauea, thence making the rounds of various interesting islands.

They will also be guests for part of the time of Mrs. Orrin Robinson, the former Miss Isabel Smiley, daughter of J. A. Smiley of West Orange, who found romance in the islands and married there.

Miss Skiles has been teaching science the past year in the Marl-copa high school in Kern county. Her traveling companions are also successful teachers who are enjoying vacation journeyings.

Santa Ana Guests Are Among Those Present At Smart Wedding

INTEREST IN the Bixby-Dudley wedding which was one of the leading events of the season in the neighboring city of Long Beach, has been quite as rife in this city, where Miss Avis Hathaway Bixby, the bride, and her parents, the Llewellyn Bixbys, are well known, as it was in the city of which the Bixbys are pioneers.

The wedding was an event of Friday of last week, and took place at the family home on East Ocean avenue, Long Beach, where quantities of pink and blue blossoms gave an exceedingly French effect to the scene. An altar was arranged for the rites and was backed with blue delphinium, pink gladioli and sweet peas against a background of palms.

There the bridegroom, Paul Harwood Dudley, awaited his bride, accompanied by his best man, Marion Durfee, a classmate at Pomona college. Miss Bixby had but one attendant also, her honor maid, Miss Mildred Aylliffe of Long Beach. The Rev. Henry Kendall Booth, pastor of the Long Beach First Congregational church read the marriage service in an impressive manner.

Mr. Dudley is a 1925 alumnus of Pomona and is now studying for his Ph. D. degree at University of California, Berkeley. He plans to become a geologist. His bride too is a Pomona alumnus, having completed her course this year.

More than 125 friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony and remained for the wedding reception and supper which followed ere the young Mr. and Mrs. Dudley took their departure on a honeymoon trip whose destination remained their own secret.

Among the guests was Miss Mary Safley of this city, a college mate of the bride and a close friend of many years' standing. Miss Safley was also present at countless pre-nuptial affairs planned for the popular bride, the latest of which was a tea at the Virginia Country club on the day preceding the wedding. This was given by the Misses Lenora Ahlswede and Marjorie Babb of Long Beach and Miss Constance Crookshank was another Santa Ana guest present.

BY J. P. BAUMGARTNER

If the coming of the National Editorial association did nothing else worth while—and it did many other things of consequence—it has to its credit the laudable achievement of bringing Harry Chandler and William Randolph Hearst together at the breakfast table.

Friday morning, the editors were the guests of Mr. Chandler and the Los Angeles Breakfast club, out in Griffith park, and Mr. Hearst, who was also a guest, was introduced by Mr. Chandler as "the greatest publisher in the world." He invited Mr. Hearst, who was seated down the line, to occupy the place of honor at the right of the host, which Mr. Hearst did.

Incidentally Mr. Hearst told the best story I heard during the four days I was with the N. E. A. people.

He was marveling that between 500 and 600 newspaper people, many of them, like himself, representing morning papers, could be got out to Griffith park for breakfast at 7:30 in the morning.

"Perhaps," he said, "they were like Donahue, a classmate of mine when I was in college, back in the days of King Tut. In those days we had what we called 'chapel exercises' at 7 o'clock in the morning, and naturally many of us were absent. But Donahue was always there and always on time, and was cordially hated for his virtue in this respect.

After a time the student body prevailed upon the faculty to change the hour of chapel exercises from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock, and thereafter Donahue was never present. When he was finally brought on the carpet for his delinquency he was asked, "Why is it, Donahue, that you could always be present and on time when the hour of assembly was 7 o'clock, but now can't make it at 9 o'clock?"

"Well," said the culprit, "you see it's like this. I don't mind staying up until 7 o'clock, but for the life of me I can't keep awake till 9 o'clock."

The best speech of the convention undoubtedly was that of Fred M. Snyder, of the "Editor and Publisher," New York, on the coming of the World's Press congress, which is to convene at Geneva, Switzerland, in September of this year.

One of the chief objectives of this congress is to further the movement for permanent peace. Internationally, the several nations of the world are mentally blind. They can learn each other's lip language, but they cannot speak or read each other's mind or fathom each other's soul.

They may be likened in this respect to the blind men who tried to visualize the elephant. One felt of his leg and said the elephant was like a tree; one ran his hand over the side of the great beast and said he was like a wall; the third grasped his trunk and said he was like a snake.

The hope of the World's Press Congress is to help the nations of the earth to see each other as they are, individually and as a whole.

As President Coolidge has put it, "Truth dissipates misunderstanding and misconception. It is the function of a free press not only to make the truth available to every one within its sphere, but to cherish and develop a public sentiment for all that is loyal to the truth. A free and enlightened press, by this means, becomes one of the safeguards of liberty. When devoted to these ideals it is a vitally stimulating cultural force."

It is that kind of press, all over the world, that the World's Press Congress seeks to establish.

But even Mr. Snyder's fine address, with its far-reaching vision, did not arouse as much interest—at least it did not develop manifestation of as much—as the brief symposium of J. C. Brimblecom, of Newton, Mass., on Prohibition.

Mr. Brimblecom had sent out a questionnaire to representative editors of each of the 31 states represented in the convention. He received 145 replies, showing 98 editors favoring strict enforcement of the Volstead act, 29 for modification, three for repeal of the 18th amendment, six for government control of liquor similar to that exercised by the Canadian government, and one for a return to previous conditions.

One hundred and nine editors reported less drunkenness in their communities than before the country went dry and 15 reported more drunkenness. Seventy-seven reported good enforcement of the dry laws in their communities, 46 reported a moderate enforcement and 14 reported very faulty enforcement.

Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania reported that the wet-and-dry question would be an issue in state political campaigns this year. Brimblecom severely denounced the metropolitan press as one of the greatest causes of "the present uneasiness of prohibition." He said that some time ago the rural press generally quit treating prohibition lightly, but that metropolitan papers still treat the subject with levity and many times make heroes and popular figures out of bootleggers.

For this state of affairs, Brimblecom blamed the publishers of metropolitan papers, but what he said were the efforts of reporters, rewrite men and copy readers to be clever and wise-appearing. He declared the city reporter often is a "rather blase youth" suffering from immaturity and cynicism.

A Californian moved—and the motion was unanimously adopted—that copies of Brimblecom's address be given to the Los Angeles newspapers and the Associated Press and the International News Service.

Other proceedings of the convention of general interest and importance were those relating to the Colorado river project and national highways.

Governor Richardson brought up the Colorado river project in his first address of greetings at San Diego; and that the editors sensed its importance was shown by the resolution (adopted on the closing day of the convention) "that we commend to our members a careful study and consideration of the Boulder dam project, involving as it does an engineering problem comparable with the building of the Panama canal and of great economic importance to the states of the Southwest, to the end that the members of this body may acquaint their constituents with the true facts and the great importance of the project."

At the luncheon given Friday in the ballroom of the Alexandria hotel, by the publishers of Los Angeles newspapers, Harry Chandler of the Times asked for support of an all-year transcontinental highway project that is well under way.

The plan calls for a continuous paved highway down the Atlantic coast, across the continent on a line far enough south so that the road will never be closed by snow and connecting at Los Angeles with the Pacific Coast highway, a continuous paved road 2000 miles long and reaching to Vancouver. The effect of the completed project will be to grade the continent on three sides with a paved highway, making possible a motor traffic back and forth across America at any month in the year.

Much of the necessary highway is, of course, already built in the form of present state and local highways, and it will be necessary only to connect the existing links to make it continuous. Recent federal good roads' appropriations totaling approximately $175,000,000 would probably be available in part for the purpose.

In all the years I have been attending editorial conventions, state, district and national, I have never enjoyed such lavish hospitality as that of California on this occasion.

Starting at El Centro last Monday, and continuing at San Diego and in Orange county on the way to the convention city a pace was set which, it was thought, would be hard to maintain. But those who thought that didn't know Los Angeles and Beverly Hills and Pasadena and the San Fernando valley.

Usually on editorial excursions we are "invited out" to one and, occasionally, two meals a day. But with the exception of one dinner and two or three breakfasts, the editors have not been permitted to buy a meal since they arrived in California. And such meals! No sandwiches and coffee, no tea and cakes, no hot dogs and lemonade, but real meals and real banquets. I never sat down to finer dinners than those served at Beverly Hills in the Civic Center park, and at Pasadena's beautiful Hotel Maryland, and here at home Bob Bisby, at St. Ann's Inn, served as fine a breakfast as one could wish for and Bob Slabaugh and Duffy just spread themselves on the barbeque luncheon at Orange County park.

If the members of the board of supervisors and Dr. Slabaugh, and George Raymer and the other chamber of commerce secretaries throughout the county, and Bob Bisby and his staff of St. Ann's Inn, and all the people who furnished automobiles, and C. C. Chapman and family, of Fullerton, and H. A. Lake, of Garden Grove, and W. K. Duffy, and all others who helped in any way to entertain the editorial party in Orange county last Tuesday—if these people could have heard the expressions of appreciation that I heard during the four days I was with the party last week, they would feel amply repaid.

First impressions are lasting, and after three to six days weariness, the last of them in the heat of the desert and the Imperial valley, it was like entering paradise for these people to disembark from the automobiles in the beautiful grounds of St. Ann's Inn and sit down to a sumptuous breakfast in the cool, clean dining room. I think more people spoke to me in praise of that breakfast than of any other courtesy or hospitality shown them while I was with the party. They were especially loud in their praise of the service.

Of course the drive through the beautiful orange groves and walnut groves was a delightful revelation to most of the visitors, most of whom were seeing Southern California for the first time. They thoroughly enjoyed the delicious luncheon at Orange County park, and were especially delighted with the generous hospitality at the home of C. C. Chapman, of Fullerton.

In a certain sense the newspaper men of Orange county were the natural and normal—at least the nominal hosts on this occasion, and I have been asked to express our appreciation of the generous courtesy of the Orange county supervisors and the citizens generally.

Glorious Fourth Proves Expensive To Tustin Youth

Celebrating the Fourth of July proved rather expensive for Dan Rolla Park, 18, Tustin service station operator, who, charged with "shooting a fire-cracker" in Santa Ana, was fined $5 in City Recorder J. F. Talbot's court Tuesday.

Park paid the fine and probably wondered what it would have cost him had he fired off more than one in celebrating the grand and glorious Fourth.

The boy was arrested by Officer A. T. Holmes on the morning of the Fourth and cited to appear Tuesday before Judge Talbot.

The Rev. Mr. Harter was assisted in the work by a corps of women and a group of high school girls. Those assisting were Mrs.

NAVAL OFFICER ARRESTED ON TRAFFIC COUNT

When his automobile is alleged to have been swerving from one side of the street to the other, Com. J. F. Conner, 11th naval district, San Diego, was arrested on North Main street Monday afternoon by H. F. Hershey, special city officer, who took him to the police station.

Conner was given a ticket, charging reckless driving, and commanded to appear before Judge J. F. Talbot in police court here, July 10, at 10 a. m.

His automobile is being held here pending the outcome of his case.

According to Hershey, the naval officer narrowly escaped colliding with his motorcycle. Conner was traveling south at the time of his arrest.

SOCIAL CENTER DRIVE STARTED IN COSTA MESA

Field workers in the Costa Mesa community campaign have begun solicitations under the leadership of the 10 captains of the team organization and, although they have been delayed by various causes, indications are that they will make excellent progress with the canvass. The first subscription announced by the campaign chairman was that of the Rev. C. J. Olson, pastor of the Community church, who subscribed for three of the $300 units, making his subscription total $900. It is said that more than $10,000 had been pledged before the active general solicitations began.

A meeting of the captains and workers was held last night at headquarters for the purpose of discussing such questions as might arise. The appeal for funds for the building of a modern community church and social center in Costa Mesa has met with general approval and it is expected that the response will be satisfactory. Under the plan by which the funds are being raised, known as the community plan of finance, no one is asked to make an absolute donation. Instead, the subscribers are asked to loan the money to the cause with the absolute guarantee that every cent advanced will be returned eventually. The cash is handled by a trustee, in this instance the First National bank of Santa Ana, having been selected as trustee.

FARM BUREAU PETITIONS HAVE MANY SIGNERS

Favorable progress was reported today by officials of the Orange County Farm Bureau, in charge of the campaign for signatures to put the modified federal reapportionment plan for the state legislature on the ballot in November.

Earl E. Campbell, of Orange, a director of the California Farm Bureau federation, active in pushing the drive for signatures, said that a number of petitions have been sent into the local headquarters, fully signed. Most of the petitions received so far represent the efforts of farm center officers, it was asserted.

A lack of knowledge on the part of registered voters concerning the intent and purpose of the plan has caused some persons to hesitate to affix signatures, but once the provisions of the plan are explained, most voters sign readily, according to Campbell.

Reduced to a minimum of words, the purpose of the bill is to prevent the counties of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda, which include the three principal cities of the state, from gaining absolute control of the state legislature. Control of the senate would be left in the hands of the rural communities, according to Campbell.

If the present law is continued, the three principal counties will control 73 per cent of the votes in the house in 1930, those backing the modified federal plan declare.

Under the plan, as backed by the farm bureau, Orange county would elect one senator and two assemblymen, it was pointed out.

DATE OF CHURCH PAGEANT CHANGED

Church organizations of Santa Ana, co-operating with the Federated Church Brotherhoods of California in the production of "Down in Alabama," pastoral pageant of old Dixie, were notified today that the date of presentation in the Los Angeles Shrine auditorium had been changed from July 23, as first planned, to August 27.

Notice came from Dr. A. M. Wilkinson, of Hollywood, president of the federation, who pointed out that plans for the pageant had reached such proportions that additional time would be necessary to assemble and rehearse the cast of approximately 1000 voices.

Church choirs throughout the district are being asked to contribute voices for the choruses, Dr. Wilkinson explained.

BANKER BACK FROM 3-WEEK VACATION

Harry L. Hanson, assistant cashier of the First National bank, in charge of new accounts, was home today from a three weeks' vacation with a new stock of fish stories.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hanson and their son, Louis, the financier motored north to the one county in the state famous because it does not possess a railroad. Lake county, and here he fished in Clear Lake until he was ashamed to look a fish in the face, according to his declaration.

Trout, bass, catfish and perch were caught in the lake, Hanson said, and without difficulty as to limit.

The Santa Anans traveled the Redwood highway as far up the coast as Eureka.

Chehalis Hospital

CHEHALIS, Wn., July 7.—A new hospital, costing $100,000, will be erected here soon by the Sisters of St. Dominic, according to announcement by Mother Superior Guilelma, of Everett.

County Auditor Jerome Was Centennial Son

County Auditor W. C. Jerome today received a note from a Los Angeles friend and found, inclosed, a clipping from the "Fifty years ago today" column of a Los Angeles newspaper. The item said:

"Born—in this city July 4, 1876, to the wife of William Jerome, a centennial son."

"That's me," the auditor admitted. "I'm just a hundred years younger than Uncle Sam."

REPORT MADE OF ROTARIANS' DENVER MEET

The plan of International Rotary to have the international, district and local administrations all begin their work at the same time, on July 1, was explained to the members of Santa Ana Rotary club yesterday by Fred C. Rowland, president, who has just returned from the international convention held in Denver, Colo.

Hitherto, the local clubs have had their years begin as they desired. Santa Ana club's change of officers has been on May 1. Under that plan, the international program of suggested programs for local meetings has not arrived until after a goodly portion of the club year has gone by.

Rowland went into detail concerning the matters presented at the convention.

At yesterday's meeting, a surprise was sprung in the presentation of Miss Agnes Davis, of Denver, Colo., who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Mildred Reinhardt, of Santa Ana. Miss Davis is a well known soloist of Denver, where she sings frequently over the radio. With C. A. Gustlin at the piano, she delighted her audience yesterday with Cadman numbers.

Police News

Two men, arrested during the Fourth of July holidays on drunkenness charges, were fined in police court yesterday. They were Deloroz Salazar, 40, fined $30, with an alternative of spending 15 days in the county jail, and Lauro Galt, given a fine of $50 or 25 days in jail. Both were committed to jail.

J. D. Sanborn, 620 East Fourth, reported to police yesterday that a spare tire and rim were stolen from his car while it was parked in his garage. Footprints near the garage indicated that a small man or a boy had been in the garage.

Two Santa Anans lost their automobiles through theft over the Fourth of July holidays, reports to police yesterday indicated. An automobile owned by A. L. Cless, 831 Flower street, was stolen in Long Beach, and a car owned by J. T. Jensen Jr., 306 West Cypress street, was stolen at Newport Beach.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Washington's big men are mostly very sensitive about their pictures.

Everybody knows that women are pretty particular how their photographs look, but who'd suppose that a great he-man, high enough up in public life to be in the senate or the cabinet or even the White House, would fret like a chorus girl, while being nudged, about lights and shadows, just the right expression on his map, his pose and his clothes?

Well, nearly all of them do. They honestly believe classy pictures of themselves in the newspapers made votes for them and that they lose votes if the pictures make them appear homely.

They may be right, for all I know.

President Coolidge is one of the fussy ones.

He's very accommodating with photographers, but he has his own ideas. He quite frankly knows that he doesn't photograph well and wants the best breaks he can get. He's been "shot" so much that he's learned a lot about it, too, and frequently makes suggestions that professionals can't afford to ignore.

Mrs. Coolidge, on the other hand, photographs exceptionally well. No doubt she also is aware of the fact, but when picture-taking's going on, but leaves it to the cameramen.

Photographers all like Vice President Dawes. From his "hell n' Maria" reputation, one might conjecture that he'd be ferocious with 'em. On the contrary, he's most obliging. Perhaps it's because he's one of the kind who generally "take" well.

(It isn't always beauty that makes a good photograph.)

Speaker Longworth is hardened. He'll pose any time; he knows how from long experience, and, as to results, he takes his chances.

Sometimes she's all smiles and affability. Sometimes she's very hard to get along with. Sometimes any picture suits her. Sometimes it's almost impossible to satisfy her.

Paulina hasn't reached an age where she cares a hoot.

It's a funny sight to see a high-powered public man molesting his lips to make 'em look rosy and shaking the sags and wrinkles out of his drapery, preliminary to having his photo shot.

It's funnier, after the fact, to watch him admiring the result, if he likes it, or to listen to his lament, if otherwise.

One of 'em, a few days ago, said it was "dishonorable" to reproduce his picture without painting out his facial lines and crowsfeet, "so he wouldn't look like Methusalem."

Singer Returns To Farm to Get Rural Setting

SEATTLE, July 7.—How hay happens to grow in stacks and the proper way of approaching a setting hen are no mysteries to Marguerite Cobbley, who in October will sing with Chappalin in the coloratura role in "The Barber of Seville."

She is spending her summer on a farm just as she used to spend time before a famous music critic, visiting in her home town, told her parents she had a voice.

That was on the Cobbley farm, near Fresno, Calif. Her father has since come to Puget Sound to live.

Years on the operatic and concert stage have not dulled Miss Cobbley's recollections of farm life. However, the artistic manner in which she wears her overalls and sunbonnet smacks more of Broadway than the old childhood farm.

Miss Cobbley will be the only American principal in the company when the opera opens in Montreal, October 29. She was selected from about 60 other singers by the famous Chappalin.

Fire Department Burns Over Field To Kill Rattlers

RED BLUFF, Calif., July 7.—Dispatching rattlesnakes or fighting fires, it's all in the day's grind for the Red Bluff fire department.

After a rattlesnake had struck at Patrick Patterson, night operator at the railroad station, the fire engine was called out. The firemen burned a field which contained a nest of the reptiles and then extinguished the blaze.

Fire department heads are perfectly willing to rush out with clanging gongs when someone sees a poisonous reptile, but they warn that there must be no false alarms. The snake must be bona fide.

COUNTY BODY READY TO HEAR COMPLAINTS ON NEW TAX BILLS

Supervisors to Sit Next Three Weeks As Special Board of Equalization

VALUATION TOTAL $5,661,635 HIGHER

Assessor James Sleeper Turns Over Roll $152,404,265 for 1926-1927

With their receipt of the assessment roll from Assessor James Sleeper yesterday, the county supervisors met in three different capacities. Besides holding their regular weekly meeting as supervisors, they met as a board of equalization to consider assessment matters, and also as a part of the tri-county committee handling the tuberculosis sanitarium project of Orange, Riverside and Imperial counties.

Supervisory business was transacted at the morning session, sharing attention with equalization matters. In the afternoon the supervisors attended a meeting of the boards of the three counties, held at 2 p. m. in Riverside.

The board will sit for the next two weeks as a board of equalization, holding hearings upon any protests that may be filed regarding property assessments as contained in the assessment roll.

The roll, as delivered to the board by Sleeper yesterday, carried a total valuation of $152,404,265, an increase of $5,661,635 over 1925. Besides the assessed valuation for the various incorporated cities, as announced yesterday, figures covering the valuation of school districts were available today. These figures, Sleeper explained, do not include the valuations appearing on the "taxed" roll, which has not yet been segregated between the various districts. In the case of certain school districts which include incorporated cities, the totals will

The meeting will begin at 6 o'clock, with one of the famous D. Eymann Huff steak dinners. More than 65 peace officers of the county, including city officers from Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, Anaheim,

VACCINATION OF DOGS REQUIRED IN COUNTY LAW

Many Think Because Santa Ana Rejected Ordinance Order Applies Nowhere

An erroneous impression that because the city of Santa Ana has declined to require vaccination of dogs, the entire county is without a law requiring such treatment, is giving county authorities considerable difficulty in enforcing the county vaccination ordinance, Dr. H. L. Wilkins, county veterinarian, announced today.

The widespread wrong impression is likely to cause trouble to those who are entertaining it, Dr. Wilkins warned. Owners of dogs who believe that they need not have their pets vaccinated are courting prosecution, providing they live outside of incorporated cities, the veterinarian declared. The county vaccination ordinance is effective everywhere in the county outside of the incorporated cities.

Following adoption of the ordinance by the county supervisors, a similar ordinance was presented to the Santa Ana city council but, after a strenuous contest between its friends and opponents, it was defeated. The publicity given the rejection of the ordinance at the county seat has led many residents of the county to believe that the Santa Ana action applied to the entire county.

"People will be arrested if they fail to have their dogs vaccinated, providing they come under jurisdiction of the county ordinance," Dr. Wilkins said.

COOLIDGES PREPARE TO MAKE THEMSELVES AT HOME AT WHITE PINE CAMP, IN ADIRONDACK MOUNTAINS

Chief Executive Will Walk And Wife Will Swim During Summer

Mrs. Coolidge will have a chance this summer to compare the swimming in a fresh water lake with the surf sports she enjoyed last year at Swampscott.

The swimming at White Pines camp, which is the summer White House, is somewhat cold. But hardy natives of the region predict that "the first lady" will enjoy it.

The new White House—family and attendants alike—is filled with the vacation spirit.

President Coolidge does not share his wife's interest in water sports. He does not swim or fish, though his statement that fishing was "a child's sport" caused more rumpus than many an important political edict.

His two favorite pastimes are walking and going to church. Aside from duty, he seldom leaves the White House except for one of these two purposes.

At White Pines Camp he can do both. The 35 acres of the camp itself are surrounded by a state forest reserve of wide dimensions. In this tangled wilderness any walking "fan" should delight.

There are tennis courts of imported red clay, a lake for swimming, boating and fishing, bridge paths, tea gardens, garages, a bowling alley and billiard rooms. The president probably will use none of them. And as they contemplate their non-playing chief, the White House staff is in a mental state of "Ain't it a shame?"

Several churches are in the neighborhood. St. John's-in-the-Wilderness, Episcopal, is the nearest. Fashionable summer neighbors maintain it, importing city choirs and clergymen for the services.

There is a Congregational church at Malone, but it is 33 miles from camp.

Richard Jervis, of the secret service, arranged telephones and telegraph direct lines, to the White House, with a switchboard at Paul Smith's, connecting with every part of the presidential establishment.

The staff headquarters will be at Smith's inn.

Jervis also inspected the camp from the standpoint of safety. He found that a guard around the rear could cut off the buildings from all approach, except across the lake on which the camp faces.

One hundred marines have been assigned to guard duty there.

The main gate of the camp, Jervis reports, is guarded by Oscar Otis superintendent and guide, and his two police dogs, Times and Star. Irwin Kirkwood, Kansas City newspaper publisher and owner of the camp, named them after his papers.

The guest cabins will accommodate 15 persons. Cabinet officers will spend occasional week-ends there, but the president means to limit his callers to persons whom he wishes to see.

The tourist roads last year brought streams of the curious to harass the Coolidge family at Swampscott. The secret service men mean to prevent such troubles this year.

COPPER MINE IN MISSOURI SOUGHT

EMINENCE, Mo., July 7.—A lost copper mine, somewhere in the southeast section of the state, and said to contain vast riches, is the object of a new search.

All human knowledge of the mine seems to have passed with the death of a trader named Slater in 1813. Slater used to appear every year with a raft full of copper ore at New Orleans.

Beyond the fact that the ore came from Missouri, no more was ever learned of the source of the mineral.

BIDS FOR CONSTRUCTION OF TRI-COUNTIES SANITARIUM OPENED AT RIVERSIDE MEET

Bids upon the five contemplated units of San Geronio sanitarium, to be built by Orange, Riverside and Imperial counties near Beaumont, Riverside county, were opened, yesterday, in Riverside, but due to the absence of the Imperial county supervisors at the scheduled joint session of the three county boards, no action was taken on the bids.

Bids upon the general contract, heating and plumbing and sheet metal contract were segregated by units, because of the fact that the counties do not expect to award contracts for the entire group at the present time, it is announced. After viewing the bids, the boards expected to decide how many units could be immediately started. Another joint session of the three boards of supervisors has been called for next Friday in Riverside, at which time it is expected that contracts will be awarded.

4 Seek General Contract
Four bidders, including two Santa Ana contractors, are seeking the general contract, while four other bids were received on the heating, plumbing and sheet metal contracts. In addition to bids upon the separate units, the contractors filed bids upon the combined group, the Cresmer Manufacturing company, of Riverside, offering the lowest figure on the general contract for the five units, which was $132,200.

The lowest bid on the plumbing and sheet metal contract for the group was $17,500, filed by the Foss-Jones company of Pasadena. Hickman Brothers, Inc., of San Pedro, filed the lowest bid on the group contract for heating, the figure being $19,635. These bids combined would make an aggregate total cost of $169,355 for the completed sanitarium, including administration building, ambulant building of 40-bed capacity, semi-ambulant building of 36-bed capacity, service building and laundry and steaming plant. Of this cost,

Service building—William Rohrbacher, $24,390; alternate $31,270; Cresmer Manufacturing company, $15,000; O. T. Moore, Santa Ana $14,532; Campbell Construction company, Ontario, $15,185.

Ambulant building—William Rohrbacher, $24,465, alternate bid for different specifications, $27,215; Cresmer Manufacturing company, $24,700, alternate bid, $25,700; O. T. Moore, $27,260, alternate, $28,100; Campbell Construction company, $27,122, alternate, $29,611.

Semi-ambulant building—William Rohrbacher, $28,670, alternate $31,270; Cresmer Manufacturing company, $28,200, alternate, $29,700; O. T. Moore, $28,317, alternate, $28,817; Campbell Construction company, $29,019, alternate, $31,177.

Administration building—William Rohrbacher $41,830, alternate, $45,520; Cresmer Manufacturing company, $43,300, alternate, $44,300; O. T. Moore, $47,270, alternate, $49,386; Campbell Construction company, $43,487, alternate, $48,684.

All five buildings—William Rohrbacher, $132,200, alternate, $151,855.

FOUR OTHERS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE FROM OCEAN DEATH

Waves of Unusual Height Capsize Small Craft and Hurl Occupants in Water

SHEFFIELD, SNOKE HEROES OF HOUR

Sea at Gateway to Port Running Higher Than at Any Time in 3 Years

George A. Rogers Jr., Los Angeles, was drowned, and four other men narrowly escaped death when their small boat capsized in unusually high waves in the entrance of Orange County Harbor, at 5:45 o'clock last night.

But for heroic aid given two of the men by Capt. E. W. Sheffield, of Corona Del Mar, who swam with a line to the struggling men in the water, and the rescue of Sheffield and the other two, later, by Kenneth Snoke, of Beverly Hills, it is believed that at least four would have lost their lives.

Leave for Open Sea
Rogers with a brother, James Rogers, and three companions, Donald McMahon, Morris Bigdood and Barkley Brown, all of Los Angeles, were seen to leave the harbor for the open sea last night. They managed to get their small craft through the entrance and then were seen to turn the boat around and start back.

Waves were running higher than have been noted at the beach for three years, it was said, and to bring the boat safely back through the harbor would have been an impossibility, according to Captain Sheffield.

Suddenly the little boat was seen to turn completely over. When this occurred, Sheffield immediately took to the water with a line. He reached the struggling men.

George Rogers Disappears
In the meantime, the boat had righted itself and two of the occupants, Brown and James Rogers, had climbed inside. George Rogers was seen to throw his hands up and disappear under the surface, never to be seen again. He was a cripple and unable to swim.

Captain Sheffield managed to carry the line to the other two men, McMahon and Bigdood. All three were greatly fatigued from their struggle in the water and were unable to return to shore or to the boat, Sheffield said.

It was then that Snoke swam with another line to the helpless men and carried all three back to shore.

Waves were 15 feet high in the harbor at the time, Captain Sheffield said today.

The body of Rogers had not been recovered this morning.

B. Y. P. U. MEMBERS ATTEND L. A. MEET

Miss Mildred Marchant, Miss Laura Joiner, Miss Edna Ingham, Miss Vera Coad and Merle Williams of Santa Ana, were among the 500 young people to register today at the convention headquarters of the Baptist Young People's Union of America in Los Angeles. The program will be concluded Sunday evening.

All of the convention sessions will be held in the First Methodist Episcopal church, except on Sunday, when the Shrine auditorium will be used.

According to Harry Kern, assistant pastor of the local Baptist church, a large number of Baptist young people will go to Los Angeles Thursday evening to attend the services to be held at that time.

It is predicted by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that the attendance will reach 7000, which will make this convention the largest to be held in Los Angeles so far this year.

Rats Are Happy After Smoking Tests Indicate

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Rats enjoy smoking, thrive on it, and do not suffer even the ill-effects that man does upon taking his first puff.

These facts are being demonstrated by Miss Hazel Field, of the physiology department of the University of California. Miss Field has a number of pipes, cages of rats and records to substantiate her assertions.

Smoking stimulates them to increased activity, the tests have shown, and the rats seem the happier for having had their smokes.

SOLDIER SOUGHT IN ROBBERY CASE

Police are searching for Joe George, soldier, a man who was said to be on leave of absence from the Hawaiian Islands, in connection with the theft of two suits of clothes and a number of other articles from the home of Ira Graham, 602 East Fourth street, Monday night.

Graham reported to police yesterday that he had "picked up" the soldier near San Juan Capistrano and brought him to Santa Ana, where he turned his room over to him for the night. When Graham next visited the room, the soldier was gone, as were two suits of clothes, a suitcase, $14 in cash, a revolver, razor and other articles.

The man also is wanted in Ocean-side for the alleged theft of a watch and chain, according to a report received from City Marshal Sickler, of that city, by police and sheriff's officers yesterday. A request from the Ocean-side police to hold George was received here before it was known that he had been in Santa Ana.

George is said to have left here yesterday morning for Los Angeles.

YOUNG DOCTOR IN FATHER'S OFFICES

Dr. John Wehrly, veteran physician of this city, has taken his son, Dr. Waldo S. Wehrly, as his associate in his offices in the Medical building, 620 North Main street.

The young physician has just finished his internship in the Los Angeles General Hospital. He received his A. B. degree at the University of California, later entering the Tulane Medical school, in New Orleans, where he received his degree of M. D. Dr. and Mrs. Waldo S. Wehrly have established a home in Tustin, at 110 Mountain View.

In the spacious suite of offices on North Main street is also Dr. J. L. Wehrly, another son of Dr. and Mrs. Wehrly sr., who elected to study dentistry and for the last two years has had his offices in the same building.

YOST THEATER

A tear, a smile, a chuckle! A page from the life-book of a simple family, a powerful portrayal of human emotions, is the heart-stirring story of "His People," now at the Yost theater.

This presentation concerns the lives of Rabbi Cominsky, his wife, Rosie, and their sons, Sammy and Morris.

An all-star cast has been selected for the many difficult roles. Rudolph Schildkraut, renowned European dramatic artist, will be seen as Rabbi Cominsky; Mme. Rosa Rosanova, who was such a sensational success in "Hungry Hearts," is Rosie, the mother; George Lewis enacts the role of Sammy and Arthur Lewis, that of Morris. Kate Price and Blanche Mehaffey also are in the cast.

WEST COAST-WALKER

"Why Girls Go Back Home," the picture now showing at the West Coast-Walker theater, has a brilliant cast to enact the reason why girls do go back.

Patsy Ruth Miller plays Marie Downey, a small town girl who falls in love with an actor at the local theater and follows him to New York, believing his love is as genuine as hers. This role is said to give Miss Miller the greatest opportunity of her successful career, since it combines dramatic and comedy possibilities and allows her to show how perfectly she can execute the Charleston.

Clive Brook plays the handsome matinee idol who finds his idle flirtation with the naive country girl has been taken too seriously to suit him, and plans a cruel revenge.

Jane Winton plays the leading woman in the traveling troupe and

News Writer Is Freed from Jail

MADRID, Spain, July 7.—Emilio Herrero, a member of the Madrid staff of the United Press, has been freed from jail after 10 days' stay, for filing dispatches without authorization of the censor. The dispatches were filed in Morocco. He also was arrested for attempt to interview General Weyler, who had been accused of plotting with revolutionaries.

Soul-Maddening Despair Follows a Midnight Adventure

LOOKING back on those terrible events now, Leonora feels that the cause of all her trouble was a foolish desire for excitement and thrills.

At sixteen she joined the chorus of a musical comedy. Then she met Carlos Mendosa and took the first fatal step that was to lead to tragedy. He attended the show nightly—sent her flowers and invitations to dinner. She was warned against Mendosa, but she was deaf to these warnings.

One night, she slipped away and met Mendosa at a little private dinner. What happened to her following that midnight adventure will rend your heart with pity—and fill you with rage that such things can be.

Leonora tells her story under the title, "Dark Secrets," in the August issue of True Story Magazine—one of the most gripping that has ever appeared in the pages of this great publication.

"Life's Currents"—They told Ruth that her sweetheart was a crook, but she refused to believe. They planned to run away—and what happened in the days that followed is an object lesson that no girl can forget.

"Double-Crossed"—They met at a party. It was love at first sight for both. The weeks that followed were like a dream. Then came the awakening. A true life narrative fairly packed with heart-thrills.

"Bonds That Cannot Break"—When they married, she loved him too intensely to be jealous of the wife he had recently divorced. She was to learn that a hasty marriage may exact a penalty that few hearts are prepared to pay.

Uses True Story for Sermons On Life

Dear Sirs: Wolcott, White Co., Ind.

Long life so such a publication as True Story Magazine. My confidence in and admiration for Bernard Macfadden is great enough to justify my saying—any publication bearing his name is proof sufficient that it is of a high moral character.

I find my vocabulary inadequate to express how manifold are the helps I have secured from True Story's pages. Many of the sermons listed in the enclosed pamphlet can be traced to inspiration found in the many issues of True Story I have read.

I have two other reasons for endorsing True Story. Mary Elmhurst and Frances Leda—my daughters. I unhesitatingly recommend it to churchmen, fathers, mothers, young people, and appeal in its behalf for a place in every church library.

Bishop Henry E. Patton.

Facing the Truth

As editor and publisher of True Story Magazine Bernard Macfadden long ago foresaw that the only way to fight indifference and ignorance was with the flaming weapon of Truth. As a result thousands look up to him in gratitude and praise for the splendid work he is doing. Thousands have been instructed, guided, warned, helped, inspired by the powerful narratives from real life in True Story Magazine. The August issue—now on all newsstands—contains fifteen heart-grIPPING features. And the cost is only a quarter. Get your copy today.

Court Decision Holds Paradise Play Plagiarism

NEW YORK, July 7.—The appellate division of the supreme court has affirmed a decision that the Oliver Morosco production, "The Bird of Paradise," was a plagiarism from the play, "In Hawaii," written by Grace A. Sandler.

The action means that, after more than 14 years of court strife, the author of "In Hawaii" must be accounted to for the huge sums made by the production.

Besides a long run in New York, the play was produced in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Richard Walton Tully was the author of "The Bird of Paradise."

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 7.—Miss June Peters, of San Francisco, a spending the summer with her aunt, Mrs. Norman Boltger.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison and daughter, Miss Hazel, have moved on the Harrison walnut north of town. Miss Hazel will attend the San Juan Capistrano high school next year.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Cook and sons, George and O. B., of Riverside, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cook during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robertson and little daughter, Harriet, went to Santa Ana Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Cook returned from a camping trip to Bishop on Saturday.

Mrs. Harry Barnes is away on a camping trip with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stillwell.

Bob Moffet spent the past week visiting with friends in San Pedro.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Cook, of Santa Ana, visited at the home of Walter Congdon Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, of Los Angeles, has been visiting the home of her brother, Dan Morgan.

BURIED SIDE BY SIDE

SAN JOSE, July 6.—The bodies of Clarence Fletcher, wealthy automobile dealer, of this city, and his wife, Helen Fletcher, victims of a domestic tragedy wherein Mrs. Fletcher shot and killed her husband and then turned the gun upon herself, were buried, side by side, here.

EVENING SKY IN JULY

This map shows the constellations visible at 9 p. m., July 1, 8 p. m., July 15, and 7 p. m., July 31, in latitude 35 degrees north, but it is also applicable for use in any part of the United States or southern Canada.

At this time, that beautiful little circlet of stars known as Corona Borealis, the Northern Crown, is directly south of the zenith.

Due west of this easily recognized group is Bootes, the Herdsman, containing the brilliant Arcturus, one of the finest stars of the northern hemisphere, while next to Corona on the east is the huge constellation of Hercules which contains no stars brighter than the third magnitude but is a famous group representing the great hero of antiquity.

Hercules stands with his foot on the head of Draco, the Dragon, which lies directly north.

Like Faint Cloud
In the constellation of Hercules in the position indicated on the chart is the great Hercules cluster, visible to the naked eye as a faint, luminous cloud but resolved by the telescope into a magnificent universe of many thousands of stars, each a sun.

This cluster is estimated to be at a distance of 36,000 light years from the earth, so far away, that light traveling at the speed of 186,000 miles a second takes 36,000 years to come to use from this great island universe.

In the southern heavens this month is the brilliant constellation of Scorpio, the Scorpion, one of the finest of the constellations of the zodiac through which sun, moon and planets pass in their circuit of the heavens.

The fiery red Antares, the brightest star in Scorpio, is one of 20 brightest stars in the sky and has been found to have a diameter of approximately 400 million miles. This is the greatest diameter yet found for any star and places Antares above all other bright stars in size.

Capricornus

The planet Saturn is the only night planet visible at this time, though Jupiter, now in the constellation of Capricornus, will rise within an hour in the southeast.

Saturn is still in Libra and will be found a little to the west of the meridian, to the northwest of Antares in Scorpio and some distance east of Spica in Virgo, which is now well over in the southwest.

Saturn surpasses both Antares and Spica in brightness but is a little inferior in brilliancy to Arcturus in the west and Vega in Lyra, now high in the eastern sky.

Mars is now in Pisces and rises near midnight. It is now brighter than any star except Sirius and is increasing in brightness as it draws nearer to the earth. Venus is still a beautiful morning star, passing from Taurus into Gemini during the month.

The planet Mercury will reach its greatest distance east of the sun on July 10 and may be seen in the evening twilight in the northwest for a few days before and after this date. It ranks among the first magnitude stars in brightness, much resembling Vega in Lyra, though seen at a disadvantage in the twilight.

Macmillan
Gasoline convinces
J.B. Putnam
of its mileage qualities!!

AVERAGES
29½ miles
TO THE GALLON
on trip to San Diego, made under ordinary driving conditions.....

While making a business trip from Long Beach, to San Diego, J. B. Putnam driving a Chrysler Roadster, decided to test the mileage qualities of Macmillan gasoline. Draining his tank at the Pruitt Service Station, he refilled it with Macmillan. Accompanied by W. L. Pruitt, owner of the service station, as an observer travelling at an ordinary driving speed, making the usual starts and stops that a business trip would necessitate, he averaged 29½ miles to the gallon.

"It's the best gasoline I have ever used." That's what he told Mr. Pruitt, when he found there was an increase in his mileage over that of other gasoline he had been using Macmillan is the Mileage gasoline. The results of Mr. Putnam's trip is but one of many surprising mileage records that are being made every day on this carefully refined gasoline. The money these careful motorists save by using Macmillan gasoline helps in reducing the other costs of motor operation.

How about you? Can you be proud of the saving you make in your motor car operation?

THE WAIVER ROUTE

Going the way of the waiver route is a rather tough experience for a big league star. Recently within a week, two of the outstanding pitchers of the majors, Grover Cleveland Alexander and Joe Bush, have experienced that ignominy. One club in the National league, the St. Louis Cardinals, claimed Alexander. All the American league clubs as well as the National, waived on Bush. Bush later signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The former star of the Athletics, being a 10-year man in the majors, was entitled to his unconditional release when no longer claimed by a club in the big show. He got it. I am of the opinion that Bush will be helpful to the Pirates, who have been losing many games of late.

ARRIVED SAME TIME
Alexander and Bush came to the majors at about the same time, in the same city, Philadelphia. The great Alexander made his National league debut in 1911 with the Phillies, while Bush joined the Athletics the following season, but worked in only a few games.

For years Alexander has occupied much the same position in the National league as Walter Johnson has in the American, the outstanding right-handers of their respective organizations.

The record of Alexander is more imposing than that of Bush, although Joe has done some great work during his 15 years of service. On eight occasions Alexander has won 20 or more games during the season. His three best years were 1915-16-17, when he won 31, 33 and 30 games, respectively.

DISCOVERED BY MACK
Joe Bush was discovered by Connie Mack out at Missoula, Mont., and made good from the start. He did fine work for Mack for five seasons.

When Connie started to clean house with his all-star ball club, Bush was one of the players he started with.

At the close of the 1917 chase he was traded to the Boston club with Amos Strunk and Wally Schang for players Gregg, Thomas, Kopp and cash reported at $50,000.

After one season with Boston, in which he broke even with 15 victories and defeats, he suffered arm trouble that kept him out of the game practically the entire 1919 season. He appeared in three games, working nine innings.

The consensus of the ball players was that Bush was through.

BUSH'S "FORK" BALL
During the 1919 campaign, while Bush was undergoing various treatments in an effort to bring back his arm, he began a series of experiments with freak deliveries.

At the close of the season he had developed what was generally called the "fork" ball. Bush held it between the fingers of his pitching hand and so released the ball that it broke not unlike a spitter.

Instead of being through, as supposed, he startled the baseball world in 1921 by his sensational comeback, winning 16 and losing nine.

Traded to New York, he had the best year of his entire career in 1922, helping the Yankees to a second pennant by winning 26 games and losing only seven.

LOOKED FOR SUCCESS
When Bush was traded to Washington after spending a year at St. Louis, he expressed great delight, said it meant another world series for him and announced that with a ball club like Washington back of him he would contribute 20 victories.

I rather concurred in his opinion, feeling that the large playing field and the strong defensive play of the Washington club would be of great help to Bush. He just couldn't get going.

All reports to the contrary, there is considerable sentiment in baseball, I, for one, hate to see outstanding stars like Alexander and Bush reach the end of their string.

State Gets Large Sum From Boxing

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—Receipts of the State Athletic commission thus far during the present year have reached $75,702.13, or $3,172.67 ahead of the same period last year. Walter Yarwood, secretary, said today.

Gate receipts during June amounted to $263,775.28. The commission's share of the 156,764 paid admissions during last month was $10,220.49 as compared with $13,245.61 for June, 1925.

RIVERS BOXES LA BARBA FOR TITLE TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—The flyweight championship, the world's smallest boxing title will be sought by George Rivers, San Francisco Mexican, when he meets Fidel La Barba, flyweight champion, in a 10-round championship bout at the Olympic auditorium here tonight.

Despite the fact that the principals are midwinters, the match is considered the most important one that has been held in Southern California, if not on the Pacific Coast, this year.

Interest in the fight centers around three questions.

Boxing fans are asking if Rivers will be the first Mexican to hold a world's championship, how many of the title holders at the start of the year will still have their crowns when the year ends and will Rivers be the seventh "short-ender" in two weeks to win a fight. The fact that the fight itself will be fast and brilliant seems to be unquestioned.

Although there have been many outstanding Mexican boxers, Rivers will be the first of his race to be called "champ" if he gets past tonight's barrier.

La Barba is coming to the defense of the champions. Three of his companions—Mickey Walker, Harry Greb and Rocky Kansas—have fallen from their high pedestals so far this year and the thrones of at least two others are endangered.

The little Italian, whose home is here, was reported a 2 to 1 favorite today. It is understood that betters could not get wages on a smaller margin. Rivers' manager, Charlie McDonald, declared today that this was an omen of good luck, pointing out that six "2 to 1" favorites have been beaten in important fights in this country during the past two weeks and only one, Sammy Mandell, has won.

George Blake, manager of La Barba, declared he could not see how his fighter could lose, but he added, La Barba could not afford to take chances. Blake respects Rivers and thinks the tiny Mexican is the most able contender for the flyweight championship.

KID KAPLAN GIVES UP FEATHER TITLE

NEW YORK, July 7.—The world's featherweight championship was in a mudslide again today as a result of Louis (Kid) Kaplan's action in unceremoniously himself.

Kaplan, who recently tightened his hold on the title by beating Bobby Garcia, announced that he was no longer able to make the weight and in the future would fight as a lightweight.

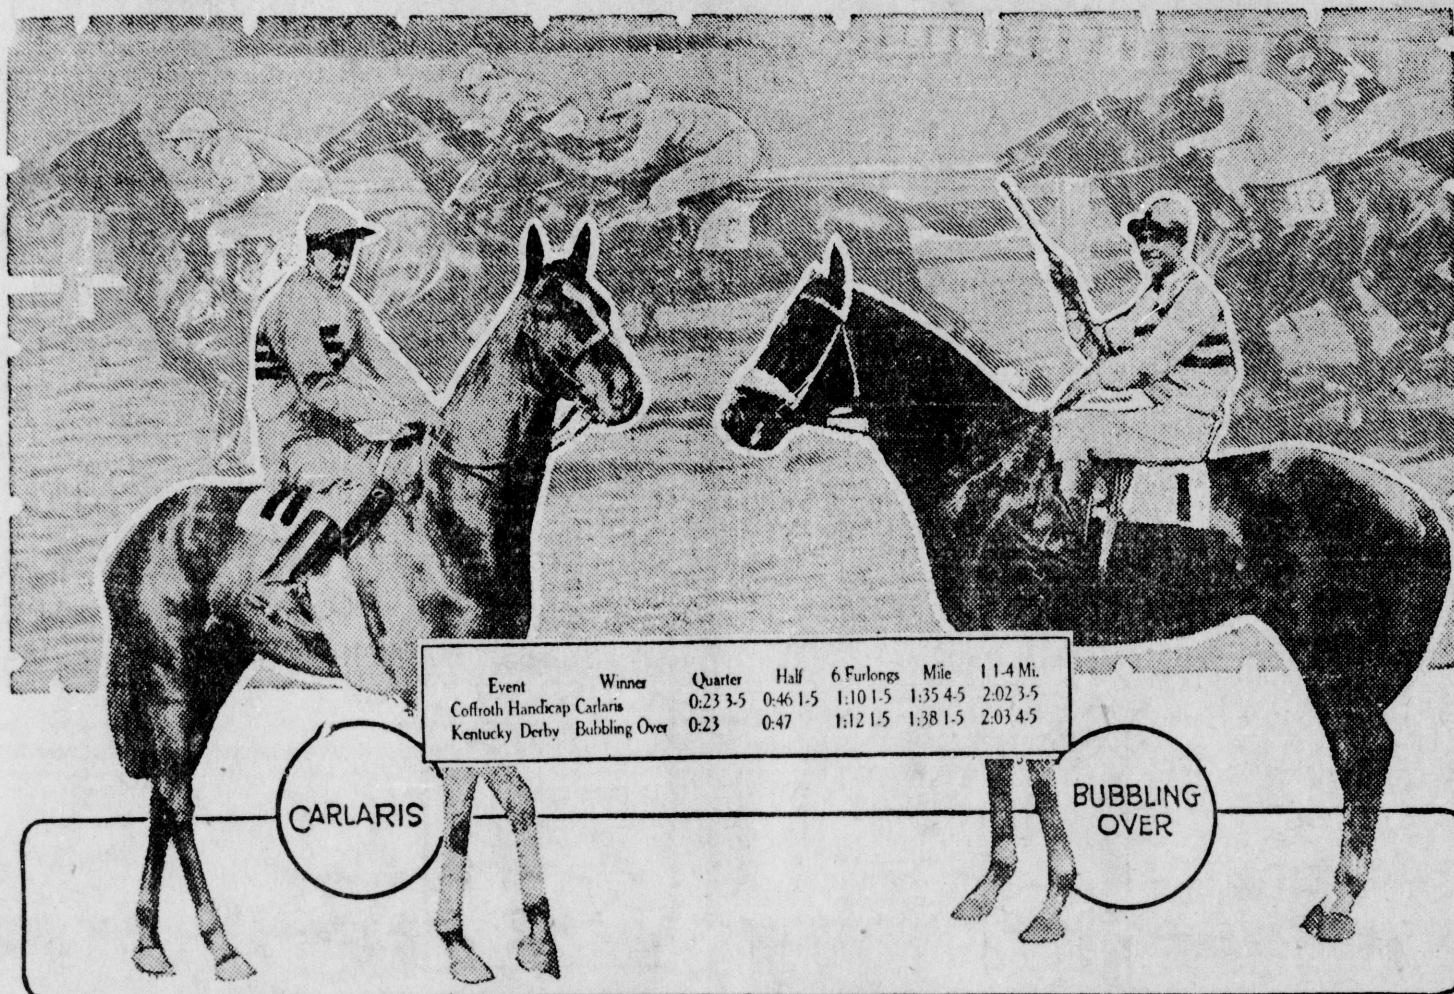

The championship thus reverts back to the New York Boxing commission which awarded it to Kaplan after the elimination tournament.

Track Stars Enter Meet at New York

NEW YORK, July 7.—Track and field champions who won honors in the National A. A. U., which closed yesterday in Philadelphia, arrived here to try for new records at the benefit meet for the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in Yankee stadium.

Twenty-three events were on the program and in competition will be Harold Osborne, Bud Houser, Chester Bowman, Dehart Hubbard and other famed athletes.

OPPORTUNE HITTING, PASSES BY RIVAL PITCHERS COMBINE TO GIVE BLAUERS EASY WIN

Opportune hitting and the wildness of two Southern Counties Gas company choppers combined to give the F. C. Blauer grocery an easy 12 to 2 victory at Lincoln park last night and a lease for at least another week on first place in the Santa Ana City Indoor Baseball league. The win was the sixth straight for "Eeny" Wilcox, the circuit's only unbeaten pitcher.

The Blauers tonighted Bill Christensen and Wayne Nelson, the Gas company moundsmen, for only eight bingles but six of them figured in the scoring of eight runs and the rest were obtained by the walks and wild pitches by the two hurlers. Christensen passed seven batters during his six inning sojourn on the turrel and Nelson dished out two complimentary tickets to first station. Costly wild pitches advancing runners also were numerous.

An error, a walk, "Evvy" Lutz's double and Hillyard's single gave the Grocers three in the first. Cole single and three wild pitches made it four in the third. Passes to Middlebrook, Wilcox, a fielder's choice, J. Lutz's long fly to center and two wild pitches added three to the Grocers' total in the fifth and walks to Smith and Wilcox and some more wild throws were good for two markers in the sixth. The Blauers scored their last three runs in the seventh on a double by Cole and singles by E. Lutz, West and Wilcox.

The Gas company made both its tallies in the fifth. W. Nelson beat out a punt, took second on a passed ball and scored on Pipp's single. Pipp's reached second on a wild pitch, third on an infield out and scored on a wild pitch.

Wilcox now has won six and lost no games. Mansfield and T. Hitt, the other leading twirlers, have both suffered one reversal. Wilcox struck out only three strikers last night but he passed none and retired the side for the most part on easy infield grounders. Johnny Lutz, the Blauer first baseman, handled 19 chances without a bungle and contributed the evening's field feature when he jumped high in the air to stab Sid Allen's line drive and rob the hard working Gas company receiver of at least a double.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The $100,000 American Derby, scheduled for running here Saturday, today was postponed until July 31.

Which is the greater horse, Bubbling Over or Carlaris?

That's been a much mooted question in turfing circles ever since the famous Bradley nag followed up Carlaris' sterling triumphs by coping the Kentucky Derby.

Now it is to be answered definitely. For the brilliant Bubbling Over and the crack Carlaris are to clash in the $100,000 American Derby (America's richest purse by the way) at Washington park, Chicago, July 10. It should develop into the greatest race of the year.

Carlaris, you'll recall, leaped into prominence last winter by winning the Coffroth Handicap and Tijuana Derby. In the former Carlaris turned the mile and a quarter in the remarkable time of 2:02 3-5.

Moreover, Carlaris ran his race over the sandy Tijuana course, far from a fast track.

Bubbling Over made the same distance at Churchill Downs in 2:00 4-5, over a splendid oval with conditions ideal. The Bradley colt's time was but two-fifths of a second slower than the Kentucky Derby record hung up by Old Rosebud in 1914, but it was 1 1-5 seconds behind Carlaris' effort at Tijuana.

Bubbling Over stepped the first quarter faster than did the far western horse only to fall away until at the mile he was nearly three seconds slower. True, Bubbling Over might have come closer to Old Rosebud's mark had he been pushed down the stretch, but he wasn't—and didn't, of course.

The American Derby, however, isn't apt to be a sure two-horse race. For Bubbling Over and Carlaris will face a twinkling field. Among other speedy colts entered are Bagenbaggage, another Bradley colt, which finished second to Bubbling Over in the Kentucky jumble and came through a winner in the Louisiana and Latonia Derbies, and Haste, which put on a sensational finish to take the Fairmont Derby away from the same Bagenbaggage.

BROOKES IN U. S.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Norman Brookes, formerly premier tennis champion of Australia, arrived from the Orient yesterday on the liner Ventura. Brookes is enroute to London on business.

Helen and her mother will sail for New York tonight aboard the White Star liner Majestic.

"I expect to play within a fortnight after my arrival," Helen said. "I am feeling perfectly fit and I don't believe the operation for appendicitis will have the slightest effect on my game when I play in the women's national tournament in August."

Suzanne Lenglen has been compelled by illness to withdraw her entry from the Irish lawn tennis championships, which are to be held in Dublin beginning July 12.

OLD-TIMERS IN N. Y. GAME PAY MATTY TRIBUTE

NEW YORK, July 7.—Old timers of other baseball decades will gather at the Polo Grounds today at exercises which are expected to provide funds to build a memorial to Christy Mathewson at Bucknell college.

Washington and New York will play an exhibition game on the lot where the "Big Six" earned his diamond fame, and before this contest the stars of yesteryear will battle it out for three innings.

As closely as possible, the teams of veterans will be divided on lines of men who played with and against "Matty."

Following are the lineups:
Matty team: Billy Gilbert 2b; George Burns 1b; "Red" Murray rf; Fred Merkle 1b; Arthur Fletcher ss; Arthur Delvin 3b; "Moose" McCormick cf; Frank Bozeman c; Joe McGlinchey p; George Wiltse p.

Opponents: John Ewers 2b; John McGraw 3b; Fred Clark lf; Roger Bresnahan c; Fred Tenny 1b; Joe Kelley cf; Herb Hunter rf; Bill Dahlen ss; "Rube" Marquard p; Harry Thielmann p.

McGraw and Billy Gilbert, by the way, have played no baseball in 20 years.

Mayor Walker and officers of the American Legion will join in the memorial to Mathewson.

SHORT SPORTS

DENVER—Jack Dempsey is going to move his training camp to the top of Cheyenne mountain, 9000 feet above sea level, at Colorado Springs next week.

CHICAGO—Rocky Kansas, whose lightweight boxing crown was captured by Sammy Mandell in Chicago's first bout under the new Illinois boxing law, wants a return match. He has posted $2500 with the Illinois Boxing commission as a forfeit for another match with his conqueror.

JONES, HAGEN FAVORITES TO CAPTURE TITLE

Mac Smith and MacFarlane Also Get Support; 153 Experts to Seek Honors

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, CO. LUMBUS, O., July 7.—One of the greatest assemblages of golfers ever seen on an American fairway met here this morning for final practice rounds, preliminary to initial play in the 1926 National Open championships, beginning tomorrow at 8:30 a. m.

The great and near great of golf—ord over one of the trickiest courses of the land—a course especially remodeled to make it hazardous for the best.

Only a smile from the weather man was asked to complete a perfect setting for the play. Unless sunshine bathes the fairways today, soggy mould may hinder the qualifiers in tomorrow's eliminating play.

All of the 153 contenders had arrived today and outstanding among them was Bobby Jones, who captured the National Open in 1923 and who has just returned from England with the British Open crown.

Jones was the prevailing favorite with MacDonald Smith, Willie MacFarlane and Walter Hagen winning good support.

Of little less interest than play in the National Open was pro-amateur match play, scheduled for yesterday afternoon but postponed until today because of drenching rains.

The matches, as arranged, bring together America's outstanding veterans—24 of them, composing six foursomes.

The pairings follow:
First foursome—Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn vs. Willie MacFarlane and Walter Hagen.

Second—Max Marsten and George Von Elm vs. MacDonald Smith and Harry Cooper.

Third—"Chick" Evans and D. Clarke Corkran vs. Johnny Farrell and Leo Diegel.

Fourth—Roland Mackenzie and Keefe Carter vs. Al Watrous and Bill Mehlhorn.

Fifth—Harrison Johnson and Dinsmore Shute vs. Bobby Cruikshank and Jack Hutchison.

Sixth—Eddie Held and Clarence Wolff vs. Gene Sarazen and Willie Hunter.

Jack Silver Turns Down Bout Offers

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—In spite of offers from the East and South to fight, Manager Hutchinson will keep Jack Silver, who defeated Mushy Callahan here Monday, in San Francisco until fall at least, he declared today. Silver and Callahan each received $3334 as their share of the proceeds from the Ewing field battle.

land always will be behind the United States and France on international counts."

POPULAR PUBS SEEN AS CURB ON DRINK EVIL

LONDON, July 7.—England, officially, is busied with the problem of making its "pubs" (short for public houses, or saloons) attractive. It feels that this will be one way in which it may decrease their production of stewed Englishmen, basing this idea upon the alleged sobriety of continental nations, wherein liquor is sold without restrictions, virtually, but in such a way (it is said) that its consumption becomes an innocent social matter.

Such a method of sale is that of France, Italy and Belgium, where the sidewalk cafes are the general social gathering places. Germany and Austria, where the beer garden is the general loafing spot for the whole family, and sidewalk cafes abound, Hungary and Jugoslavia, where the "coffee house," so-called, is the most attractive and widely frequented social rendezvous in every town.

Would Block Prohibition
The "reform" of the public house is regarded in England by those who do not wish to see prohibition sentiment grow, as the best means for preventing such growth.

In many details the English public house ever has been worse, even, than the American saloon ever was; in some details it has been better.

The definite movement for the adoption here of the continental cafe system is led, impressively enough, by a clergyman, the very well known Rev. G. Napier Whittingham, who has made a careful study of both English public houses and continental open-air cafes.

Many people have endeavored to prove that in a large American town people would not care to sit at little tables in the open air, or at least unscreened by any front wall, or under an awning, at the sidewalk's inner edge and sip their drinks, eat their food or what not (in Paris, Berlin and Vienna even their dinners) while so placed that they could watch the passing throng.

Gaiety for Americans
There is a gaiety about that sort of eating and drinking which might appeal to the American psychology, although it might take some time to establish such a fashion.

In the American south, where the summers are hot, as hot in New York as in Havana or Cairo, a little effort would popularize this method of serving drinkables of whatever sort happen to be most popular and legal, as well as eatables.

One reason, it is said, is that they fear that comfortable tables and chairs would make people daily too long over small expenditures; but this the Parisians and other Europeans find profitable. The comfort of the cafes binds the populace to the cafe habit to such an extent that during the good hours on pleasant days there rarely is a place not occupied by a profitable customer.

Several experiments already have been tried. One of these unobtrusively under church auspices, has as its center a very comfortable restaurant at which a good meal, consisting of roast meat, two vegetables and a sweet of some sort is served for 10-pence (20 cents).

From time immemorial English public houses have been divided into various "bars," that is, rooms, usually but not always all communicating with the one group of drink servers inside a circular counter, but effectively screened from one another.

This probably is an indirect outgrowth of the caste system. There is the "public bar," the "private bar," the "ladies' bar" and often another, marked "parlor," or something of the sort.

It is the rule in these "reformed pubs" that no urging to drink more than is voluntarily ordered shall be done by the proprietor or any attaché and this is likely any event to become a regulation of the licensing authorities throughout the United Kingdom.

Inventor Seeks Ford's Interest
In Boat Patent

OAKLAND, July 7.—Armed with a $5 bill and an invention which he claims will revolutionize air and water transportation, Albert Lee Crosby, 65-year-old self-styled inventor, has set out afoot for Dearborn, Mich., where he will offer Henry Ford the opportunity of joining him in his enterprise.

Crosby's inventions are all in his mind. He says they are a particular type of plane which works like a fish's tail.

"Nothing is as efficient as nature," declares Crosby. "If a fish can about-face in a flash, why not a boat?"

Joe Bush, starting his first game for Pittsburgh, allowed nine hits and lost to Chicago, 3 to 0. Pittsburgh took the second game of the double header, 3 to 0.

The Indians tapped Blankenship for eight hits but were unable to turn them into runs and Chicago won, 1 to 0.

Detroit lost the fifth straight game and the third in a row to the St. Louis Browns yesterday. The score was 5 to 2.

Alexander was touched for four hits in the 15th inning and Cincinnati posed out St. Louis, 5 to 2.

WHAT COUNCIL DID OPPOSITION TO MAIN STREET WORK VOICED

With threats made last night that property owners would protest out the improvement if plans for widening south Main street are pushed, the city council today had under consideration further action in the proposed widening and paving of the main avenue south out of Santa Ana.

L. A. West, attorney, representing a group of protesters, last night discussed with the council the possibility of the objectors to the proposed widening of the street.

Want Names Withdrawn
He presented a petition from a large group of signers of the original petition asking for the improvement and a new petition, signed by a number of owners who had not attached their signature to the original, the former requesting withdrawal of their names from the original and the latter asking that the street be paved but not widened.

The original petition carried the names of the owners of 6934 feet of the 11,390 feet of frontage on that portion of the street under consideration for improvement. Original signers, asking that their names be withdrawn, represented 3922 feet, leaving only 3012 feet represented on the first petition. In effect, the owners of 6035 feet, or a little more than 50 per cent of the frontage, are protesting the widening.

In speaking against the widening, West pointed out that the extra width on South Main would be of no avail because of the "bottle neck" on North Main street. Commenting on the situation, with reference to the widening destroying trees along the street, West said that it takes 25 to 30 years to grow trees and "we destroy them in 25 or 30 minutes."

Increase in Values
Dr. Roy Horton spoke in behalf of the original petition, declaring that widening and other improvements contemplated for the thoroughfare would increase property values more than the cost of the improvement to the individual lot owner. He pointed out that, as a rule, trees are not found on business streets and he predicted that widening would hasten the development of South Main as an important business avenue.

At the conclusion of the discussions, Mayor Frank Purinton pointed out that the county of Orange was contributing $10,000 to the costs of the improvement work and that the city is giving a duplicate amount. He also pointed out that if plans and specifications have to be redrafted, it probably would be late in October before they would be ready, with the winter months forcing delay in starting the work until next spring.

The petitions presented by West were referred to City Engineer, Nat H. Neff for checking, to report at the meeting next Monday night. The mayor assured the property owners that the council would make its decision on the widening point in an impartial manner and in accordance with what it believed to be the best interests of the city as a whole.

The council has control over the street and by a four-fifths vote can pave over the protest of the owners of 50 per cent of the frontage. It is possible for the council to direct the widening of the street by utilization of part of the parking.

State to Purchase
1777 Battlefield

ALBANY, July 7.—Purchase by the state of four farms marking the site of the surrender of Burgoyne at the Battle of Saratoga was directed recently as the first step toward rehabilitation of the Revolutionary battlefields for the state's Sesqui-Centennial celebration next year. Historic sites at Saratoga, Bennington, Fort Stanwix and Oriskany will be marked.

Fruit Prospects
In North Are Good

VICTORIA, B. C., July 7.—Prospects are that there will be a greater tonnage in all lines of tree fruits this season than in 1925 in most parts of British Columbia, according to reports from over the province. There has been much new orchard planting in the Okanagan country. Conditions in the Kootenay district are promising.

Piping 'Em Off

Joe Bush, starting his first game for Pittsburgh, allowed nine hits and lost to Chicago, 3 to 0. Pittsburgh took the second game of the double header, 3 to 0.

The Indians tapped Blankenship for eight hits but were unable to turn them into runs and Chicago won, 1 to 0.

Detroit lost the fifth straight game and the third in a row to the St. Louis Browns yesterday. The score was 5 to 2.

Alexander was touched for four hits in the 15th inning and Cincinnati posed out St. Louis, 5 to 2.

Council Flooded With Offers On City Equipment

Opening of bids by the council, last night, for supplying the city with two one-ton trucks, two and one-half-ton trucks and one street sweeper brought a flood of offers and a large group of men representing the various firms submitting bids.

Fourteen firms submitted truck bids, five submitted offers for bodies and five quoted prices on sweepers.

The bids were referred to Street Commissioner Goode and City Engineer Nat H. Neff to report recommendations at the next meeting.

GRANT PERMISSION TO INSTALL TANK

Southern Counties Gas company was given permission to install a 500-gallon gasoline tank on its grounds at First and Main streets, at the city council meeting last night.

A communication was received from the East Santa Ana Improvement association, endorsing the action of the council in employing a planning expert to develop a program of planning for Santa Ana.

Permission was received from the state board of health for city use of water from well 13 in the municipal group. The well has just been completed.

First reading was given an ordinance amending the house moving ordinance. The amendment corrects an error in the original ordinance, changing the fee from $1 to 10 cents per square foot for houses having floor space in excess of 500 square feet. A flat rate is charged for houses with 500 or less square feet.

Resolution was adopted, ordering paving on East Twentieth and Valencia streets.

City Engineer Nat H. Neff was instructed to attend a meeting of engineers in Los Angeles, on July 17, for discussion of uniform specifications for grading of rock used in paving.

Robertson Electric company was granted permission to hang an electric sign for O. A. Haley, at 415 Bush street.

SAVE CANTALOUPE BY AIRPLANE USE

EL CENTRO, July 7.—Serious damage to Imperial valley's 33,000 acres of cantaloupes was averted by the use of airplanes, which flew over the fields and scattered a sulphur compound on the crop to eradicate the mildew.

The disinfectant was spread by a flying firm which had previously operated in the old south in the cotton boll-weevil infested area.

Thousands of carloads of the melons have already been harvested and shipped to eastern markets. Prices thus far have been uniformly high.

Sets Out to Raid Brewery, Remains To Fight Flames

WEED, Calif., July 7.—How a federal prohibition agent came to raid, but remained to fight fire was related here by the officer, W. E. Corley, enforcement head for Siskiyou, Shasta, Modoc and Lassen counties.

Corley was on his way to serve a warrant on a brewery reported operating near here. As he was driving from Yreka to the alleged brewing plant the structure caught fire. The flames, Corley said, first destroyed his prospective evidence and then spread to the nearby brush and timber.

Forest rangers gave Corley a shovel and a grub hoe and told him to go to work.

Movie Star, Wife Fined $50 Each

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Denny, prominent in the cinema world, received the limit for violation of the motor vehicle act here this morning. They were fined $50 each.

Denny and his wife were arrested recently while speeding 50 miles an hour on Ocean avenue. Mrs. Denny also was charged with not having an operator's license. According to Motorcycle Officer Elmer Parker, who made the arrest, the couple evidently were staging a race.

CITY OFFERED CAMP GROUNDS IN MOUNTAINS

Does the city of Santa Ana want a public camp ground in the San Bernardino mountains, near Seven Oaks?

The city council was confronted with this question today, following an offer of a tract of 20 acres in the forest tendered by the state forestry department, through the influence of Lou Barrett, former Santa Ana man and now assistant state supervisor of forests.

The offer is made without obligation by the city as to expenditures, but the tract is in such condition that some money would have to be expended to make it of service.

Councilman C. H. Chapman said last night that it was possible that private persons could be interested in making improvements for the right of maintaining stores, or other camp necessities. Chapman pointed out that if the public camp ground offer is accepted, it would be reserved strictly for the use of Santa Ana residents. Attention was directed to the fact that mountain camp sites are rapidly being exhausted and the opinion was expressed that the council should accept the offer and later work out plans for its development.

Redlands and other communities of the Southland have accepted similar offers and some of the municipalities already have improved their holdings.

City Engineer Nat H. Neff and a committee will visit the site in a few days and be in position to make recommendations at the meeting of the city body Monday night.

Councilmen Chapman, Goode and McPhee were appointed a committee to investigate and report on the request of Will O'Brien for water with which to irrigate palm trees on South Sycamore street.

The trees appear to be dying because of lack of water.

LIFTS TWO TONS

BERLIN, July 7.—Peter Perich-tanoff, a Bulgarian, has performed the feat of supporting without difficulty the weight of a motor car, containing nine people, which ran over him on an inclined plank. The total weight was nearly two tons.

PECULIAR TYPE OF SAIL CRAFT VANISHING FAST

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Years ago the great bay of San Francisco was dotted, every day of the week, with the white sails of sturdy little craft peculiar to this great land-locked harbor, the Whitehall boats.

A Whitehall boat was not the pleasure craft a white sail indicates these days. It was built for work, to plow through the tumbling swells beyond the Golden Gate, designed, over its scant 13 feet, to meet a bad sea as well as the smooth.

Mostly, the Whitehall boats were used by commercial agents to race to visiting sailing ships, take orders and run back to San Francisco to fill them.

Recall Racing Days
The competition thus arising sometimes lent a racing aspect to their going and return. Their steersmen, then, would become excited with a keen spirit of sport. Thus, was the staid and business-like Whitehall boat sometimes employed as a racer for racing's sake alone.

Long since sent to the marine graveyard by the advent of the motorboat, the Whitehalls have almost completely disappeared. Only four are known to remain.

Owned by the United States lighthouse service, these four, distinguished from all modern sailing craft by their resemblance to a glorified rowboat, with a single sail and centerboard, have lain unused for years.

Sentiment Inspires Buying
Advertised for sale a few days ago, they were bought by Dave Crowley, whose father was "Hooker-on" Crowley, one of the commission men who sailed the Whitehall boats in years past.

Sentiment was behind the purchase. For all practical purposes, the Whitehall boats are valueless. But they strike fond memories from the hearts of old sailing men, and Crowley expects to see scores of them lining the wharf when he starts the four survivors, one of these days soon, in a race out to the "Gate" and back.

HOUSE OF LAVA
HILO, Hawaii, July 7.—The new residence of the superintendent of Hawaii National park will be made of lava rock. The house will stand on the rim of the greater crater of Kilauea, commanding a view of the immense lava fields in the crater, the active fire pit of Halemaumau and two peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea.

HOW TO ANSWER BLIND CLASSIFIED ADS
In answering blind addresses (for instance, Box 234, Register or other similar addresses), please be careful to use the precise address given in the ad. Write to the address in the ad. Letters brought to the Register office do not require a return address. If you wish to answer in sealed envelopes, please write to the Register office. If an advertiser who has made application for credit and opened an account with the Register Credit department in the regular form desires to have any "line" advertisement published, he may do so by signing a "line" order to that effect. An advertisement thus begun will appear regularly until countermanded by written order. The Register postoffice department is conducted for the benefit of patrons who wish answers to come to the office. Advertisers are furnished with identification cards which must be presented at the Register office. For the protection of our patrons, replies are not sent out except on presentation of box card. No record is kept of the names and addresses of patrons using the Register postoffice, and therefore no information concerning these advertisements can be supplied. A charge is made for the words "Box A-234, care The Register."

Inspection Of Packed Meats Is Explained

The full significance of the little purple stamp and other labels used for marking carcasses and products that have passed federal inspection is not appreciated by many people generally may better understand its meaning the United States department of agriculture has just issued Miscellaneous Circular No. 63-M, entitled "The Inspection Stamp as a Guide to Wholesome Meat."

The federal government has no supervision over establishments which confine their business to the state where the animals are killed, such concerns being under state control. Cities can also supervise meats sold within their limits, just as they inspect local milk supplies. A large proportion of meat establishments do an interstate business, and about one-third of all animals slaughtered before and after slaughter. If the inspector sees an animal that looks sick or abnormal in any way, he tags it with a metal label fastened to the ear, the tag reading either "U. S. Condemned" or "U. S. Suspect," depending on how serious the ailment is. If condemned, the animals so tagged must not be taken into the slaughter room. Animals whose condition is merely doubtful are kept apart and slaughtered separately from other animals.

The circular, which is written in popular story form, gives numerous details relative of the Federal meat inspection service. A copy of the publication may be obtained free, as long as the supply lasts, by writing to the Unit-

Water Essential To Cabbage Life

This is the season for setting out cabbage and cauliflower plants for the fall crop. It is a little late to start seeds, but if no plants are available a good crop can be gathered from early varieties sown now. Select the seed bed in a shaded corner, where it can be kept moist to speed the germination until the young plants have made two sets of leaves and are ready to transplant. Cover with straw or burlap or other shade until they settle into new quarters.

The success of cabbage depends upon rich soil and an abundant supply of moisture. Cabbage always do their best on freshly turned soil well fertilized.

In setting out cabbage and cauliflower plants at this season, it is best to put out the late sorts if plants are available and to sow seed of the early types if it is necessary to sow.

Much of the success of the late cabbage and cauliflower planting depends upon the transplanting. Soak each seedling well into its place. Old-time truck gardeners who were always successful with their cabbages made it a rule to use a pint of water to plants set in May and a quart to those put out in June or early July at planting time. If there is no rain repeat in three or four days.

The cabbage is the earliest of all vegetables to transplant in hot weather as the water usually starts it on its business without any further trouble.

Yellow Blight Appears in Tomato Fields

By RAYMOND ELLIS (Assistant Farm Advisor)

In several fields of tomatoes in Orange county there have appeared this spring severe attacks of western yellow blight.

This is a disease which generally appears later in the summer and in most cases seems to be directly connected with either excessive evaporation of water from the plants, or with very decided fluctuations in humidity. There is no known remedy for the disease and any spraying or dusting which might be attempted by the grower would be a useless expenditure of both time and money.

This disease can readily be recognized by certain characteristics which are easily detected. The one first noticed is an upward rolling of the leaves, and in most cases the leaf veins turn a distinct purple color. The leaves gradually turn a sickly yellow, and curling process is taking place, the main limbs and branches of the plant stand perfectly rigid and do not droop. Later on, however, the whole plant will wilt and generally will die. In some mild cases the plant will recover from the disease, but will not produce much fruit.

A number of county agricultural officials will be present but will be called on only to make suggestions and not to lead in the discussions. The meetings will be held June 13 to 16, inclusive.

County Horticultural Commissioner A. A. Brock, Deputy Commissioner Charles F. Collins, and Inspector George W. Sloop will attend several of the meetings. A large number of Orange county growers have signified their intention to be present and take part in the discussions.

The requirements regarding avocados, citrus, walnuts, persimmons, tomatoes, lettuce and cantaloupes will be taken up at the Los Angeles meetings, which are to be held in the Sun Finance building.

C. C. Teague, chairman of the agricultural legislative committee of California, will preside.

Butter Used By Rome Girls As Beautifier

"Flappers of ancient Rome used butter as a cosmetic," says Sam H. Greene, secretary of California Dairy Council, who has been delving into the early history of butter.

"In those days Roman femininity did not have a wide selection of beauty aids, and butter was made to serve several purposes. It was considered very healing to the skin, and history reports that not only the maidens, but the youth as well, used great quantities of it as an ointment for the skin and hair. The Macedonians, not to be outdone by the Romans, indulged in butter baths.

"Today butter is used chiefly as a food, but in ancient times it had a wide variety of uses. The Greeks, who derived their knowledge of butter from the Thracians, used it as a remedy for injuries to the skin. It is also known that in 450 B. C. the Greeks considered the soot of burned butter as a cure for sore eyes. That is particularly interesting in view of the fact that today scientists have discovered that the use of butter cures and prevents xerophthalmia, an eye disease peculiar to children, which results in blindness in the final stages. The disease was widespread in Denmark before and during the World War, and was only checked after liberal supplies of butter had been rationed out to the poor.

"In Spain butter was kept in the medicine shops and sold for external application only; in India, it was employed as a remedy for wounded elephants; while in Scotland, it was used for smearing sheep and for lamp oil.

"In America, butter has been recognized chiefly as one of our most important foods, although in cases of emergency it is often used as a salve for severe burns."

Vegetables May Be Planted Now For Fall Months

Vegetables have one great advantage over flowers for the home garden. They are not so great a rush to get them going as most of the flowering annuals require a longer growing season than vegetables to produce adequate results.

With few exceptions, the common garden vegetables can be planted late in July and harvest a very satisfactory crop. The exceptions are the very early crops, such as spinach and lettuce and the early radishes which need to be sown in the garden without tarrying to the desired crops. Peas also are merely a gambling chance for the late garden, the gambling being on a cool summer as peas do not stand hot weather.

But string beans, lima beans, carrots, beets, sweet corn, tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, turnips, kohlrabi, cabbage and cauliflower all may be planted with an assurance of an abundant crop. The late garden, the late garden will require a little extra effort to see that the soil does not dry out when the young plants are getting started, a precaution much less necessary in the wetter, cooler spring months. The main work is keeping the soil stirred frequently, never allowing it to cake or crust, thus preserving the moisture by retarding evaporation.

It is well to do a little extra fertilizing in midsummer by digging in quick fertilizer like pulverized sheep manure, a garden standby in these days of the automobile when stable manure is becoming a more and more expensive rarity. The sheep manure is easy and convenient to handle and gives quick results as well as adding to the texture of the soil.

Free use of the hose is also essential.

FEAR FOR OYSTERS

LONDON, July 7.—Half a million oysters have suddenly died in Japan, causing alarm among the pearl culturists. This may turn out to be another instance of the damage done when ocean currents stray from their beaten paths. The sea inhabitants have not yet accustomed themselves to the season that when the current cause them to go away, disaster follows.

SEED WIZARD GROWS FREAK TROPIC PLANTS

Former Kentucky Hardware Merchant Produces Fruit Tastes Like Ice Cream

HOMESTEAD, Fla., July 7.—Until he was almost 50 H. W. Johnston ran a hardware store in a Kentucky town.

Thirteen years ago he came down here. Today he's considered one of the world's leading plant wizards.

On his farm Johnston has more than a thousand tropical plants, including more than 200 different varieties of fruit trees, some species of which had never before borne fruit in this country.

A tour of the farm suggests a journey along the equator, with all its tropical and sub-tropical plants.

Yet Johnston has never been outside the United States. All his plants he has raised from seeds sent him by persons he has never met; heads of botanical gardens, plantation managers, plant explorers and others.

Like an Ear of Corn.

From these seeds Johnston has created new fruits and has developed others heretofore thought impossible to raise in this country.

One of Johnston's creations is the "ice cream vine," botanically known as the monstera deliciosa. The fruit resembles a large ear of corn with the husk and the fruit that is picked off like the corn tastes like a combination of ripe bananas, strawberries and pineapple.

Another of his favorites is an orange-like fruit he calls strychnos spinosa. The fruit, however, has so hard a rind that it has to be sawed in two. Within is a delicious juicy pulp of a peach flavor and seeds that contain the poison strychnine.

Many Queer Varieties.

And there are others—a coffee tree from Yaman, Arabia, that last year bore one and a half gallons of coffee berries; a rubber tree from Brazil, another tropical tree that bore four crops in one year, the baobab that steals its water from other trees, fiberless mango trees, tomato trees, egg fruit trees, and so on.

Johnston hasn't commercialized his discoveries. He's merely toying with a hobby that he believes may ultimately be beneficial to this climate.

"An explored land lies ahead of the tropical plant breeder along the lines of specialization," is the way Johnston puts it. "His work may beneficially affect a large part of the food supply of many tropical peoples."

RAISERS OF BEES ROTATE SWARMS

VAN NUYS, July 7.—The bee raisers of San Fernando Valley move their hives around from one part of the valley to another, so that their charges will not have to travel far to gather nectar. After the orange nectar flow is over bees feed on alfalfa, sage and other wild flowers.

F. N. Hubbard, who has a colony of 30 swarms in the foothills north of San Fernando, estimates that there are from 50,000 to 60,000 swarms in the valley. This is a good season and he expects a honey crop eclipsing any previous one. The market seems to prefer sage honey, but the bee men themselves declare that orange honey is of just as good a quality. Mr. Hubbard says the market is a little lower than the average at present, but he expects it to improve. Under a system of regular inspection, the San Fernando bees are kept free from disease and are working hard filling the supers.

Federal Farm Facts

Early boll-weevil infestation is unusually heavy this year, according to the U. S. department of agriculture. In Louisiana the infestation is much heavier than last year and the Mississippi valley territory may expect from medium to heavy infestation, decreasing to the eastward.

Stocks of creamery butter in cold storage the early part of June were almost two and one-half times what they were at the same time a year ago.

This year's Spanish "habosa," or early onion, is inferior to last year's in regard to size and quality, but prospects for the "grano," or late variety, are good with about the usual acreage planted.

A silo on the dairy farm is indispensable where there are as many as 10 or 12 cows, according to findings of the North Carolina agricultural college.

During the first four months of 1925, United States tomato imports reached 85,000,000 pounds, which is 15,000,000 pounds more than imported during the same period in 1925.

Inspection Of Packed Meats Is Explained

The full significance of the little purple stamp and other labels used for marking carcasses and products that have passed federal inspection is not appreciated by many people generally may better understand its meaning the United States department of agriculture has just issued Miscellaneous Circular No. 63-M, entitled "The Inspection Stamp as a Guide to Wholesome Meat."

The federal government has no supervision over establishments which confine their business to the state where the animals are killed, such concerns being under state control. Cities can also supervise meats sold within their limits, just as they inspect local milk supplies. A large proportion of meat establishments do an interstate business, and about one-third of all animals slaughtered before and after slaughter. If the inspector sees an animal that looks sick or abnormal in any way, he tags it with a metal label fastened to the ear, the tag reading either "U. S. Condemned" or "U. S. Suspect," depending on how serious the ailment is. If condemned, the animals so tagged must not be taken into the slaughter room. Animals whose condition is merely doubtful are kept apart and slaughtered separately from other animals.

The circular, which is written in popular story form, gives numerous details relative of the Federal meat inspection service. A copy of the publication may be obtained free, as long as the supply lasts, by writing to the Unit-

Pest Control Methods Will Be Discussed

In co-operation with the citrus department of the farm bureau, the horticultural commissioner and the agricultural extension service are arranging two pest control conferences on July 15 to be held at Tustin and Fullerton.

The Tustin conference will be held in the morning at 10 o'clock at the Tustin high school, and the Fullerton conference at the Fullerton union high school at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

These meetings will just precede the main fumigation season opening up the latter part of July and which will be in full swing during August. The purpose of these conferences is to present to the citrus growers of Orange county practical information concerning the proper and most efficient methods of pest control in the citrus groves, under Orange county conditions.

Several prominent entomologists have been secured for the occasion. Prof. H. J. Quayle, entomologist of the citrus experiment station will discuss "Status of Fumigation" and give a progress report on the new departure of dust fumigation. R. S. Woglum, field entomologist for the California Fruit Growers exchange, will discuss "Spraying vs. Fumigation." Prof. Harry Smith, entomologist of the citrus experiment station, will discuss "The Biological Control of Citrus Pests." These discussions will be followed by a resume of Orange county pest control conditions by A. A. Brock, horticultural commissioner for Orange county.

All growers are invited to attend these important meetings.

Problems of the Soil

Q. We have several rows of butter beans (wax beans) that have been full grown for several weeks but have not turned yellow. Is this because something is lacking in the soil?—J. G. D.

A. If the beans are really Golden Wax they should color readily. Is there any possibility you planted a green podded sort by mistake? Sometimes too frequent irrigations, particularly on heavy soils, will delay the full development of the golden color. Even when small and before they have attained full growth the beans should be a yellowish green color. It is far more likely that the variety you have is not Golden Wax than that there is something lacking in the soil.

Q. Can you suggest a remedy for shiny black worms on the leaves of a prune tree? I was told to try road dust, but it has not done work.—Mrs. S. B. L.

A. These are undoubtedly pear slugs, the larvae of small black flies that lay their eggs early in the summer. They strip the green upper surface of the leaves of pears, quinces, cherries, plums, etc., and occasionally do considerable damage. They are easy to control, however, either by dusts or by sprays. Lime and sulphur mixed half and half and dusted dry on the leaves will kill them easily, as will a kerosene emulsion of arsenate of lead dust spray. For the kerosene emulsion formula, see answer in these columns to Mrs. F. S. K. For arsenate of lead spray, mix a teaspoonful of powdered poison into a paste with a little water and add to one gallon of water.

Q. Have a climbing rose 1 year old. Just lately it has developed mildew. Have kept sulphur on it for weeks but can't see any improvement. What is the cause and what shall I do? Have stucco and watering it only once a week or so. Should when? How deep should black soil be for a good permanent lawn? Is the lawn better mixed with clover or something else?—G. H. O.

A. In some years, such as the present, powdery mildews are exceptionally virulent and no amount of sulphuring will control them. The mildew itself is a fungus or parasitic plant living on and in the tissues. When once established in the plant leaves the only thing that can be done is to prevent its spread to other parts of the plant. Some form of sulphur, or Bordeaux mixture, is usually satisfactory for this purpose. Some varieties of roses, it should be said, are very much more susceptible to mildew than others. Thus Dorothy Perkins is so susceptible that it cannot be grown well near the coast. Cecile Brunner, on the other hand, is practically immune to mildew, even close to the water. Plants with a special tendency to mildew should be largely discarded. Pruning had better be deferred until fall or it may be done now if you want new growth encouraged, but the probabilities are the new growth will also mildew.

Soil for a lawn does not need to be very deep if there is good drainage underneath. Many good lawns in Santa Ana are on not more than 12 inches of soil above hardpan, but 20 to 24 inches or more for a permanent lawn is much better. Lawns on shallow soils dry out quickly and are hard to maintain. Blue grass and the white clover make a better lawn mixture than any other you could get. Use 1 part of clover to 3 of the blue grass.

Q. Publish a remedy for the blight on the enclosed frond of ferns. The leaves turn yellow, brown and the fronds fall. Picking the ferns off does no permanent good.—Mrs. F. S. K.

A. The leaf spot was badly infested with hemispherical scale insects.

CIGARS PROVE EXPENSIVE TO PAIR ARRESTED BY U. S. RANGER

Men Convicted of Smoking In National Forest Are Fined $25 Each in Court

STATE LAW WILL BE STRICTLY ENFORCED

Authorities Declare Signs In Wooded Portions Are Not Heeded by Motorists

That cigars should cost $25, sounds preposterous, but the fact has proven very real to J. J. Bambach, of Riverside and M. Wiedman, of San Bernardino, according to Forest Ranger J. B. Stephenson, who was in Santa Ana Monday.

These men failed to take note of numerous signs, proclaiming against smoking in the national forest, with the result that they were arrested for breaking the "no smoking" law. The arrests were made in Coldwater canyon, near Glen Ivy.

Brought before Justice of the Peace Stahl, of Corona, the men claimed that no signs had been visible to them and that "anyhow, we didn't think."

Judge Stahl told them that it was his experience that persons did not read the signs regarding protection of the national forests. "If you had obeyed the law, you would have been $25 richer. Our forests must be protected at any cost, even at the cost of raising the price of cigars to $25 a piece, for that seems to be the only way to teach people who refuse to think, or read signs."

Forest Ranger Stephenson added that the law will be strictly enforced on the Santa Ana side of the mountain range. On the forest area, no smoking will be allowed except on public camp grounds or in habitations.

"The price of $25 a cigaret or cigar may seem high," said the judge, "but there is always the chance that a cigaret stub or cigaret butt may cause a fire that will do thousands of dollars in damage and may cost thousands to control."

"Six more men were arrested this week in Coldwater canyon on smoking charges and reports probably will show more arrests in other sections of the forest. Each of these men will be fined if they are found guilty."

The ranger, who is in charge of the Santa Ana mountains, said that the arrests are being made under a new state law.

"Considerable publicity has been given this law," he said. "There is no disposition on the part of the forest service to be unfair. We saw to it that notice of the enforcement of this law was placed in the newspapers and we have posted large signs, as well as many small signs, giving ample warning. There is no reason, therefore, why arrests should not be made."

"In the Trabuco canyon, the forest lines crosses the canyon at the Narrows. The only place above the Narrows in the Trabuco where smoking can be indulged in safely is at the public camp grounds, at the forks. The rule against smoking in the public area is to be invoked against smokers not in places of habitation in Santiago, Silverado, Baker, Black Star and other canyons reaching back into the forest."

"It should be remembered that tossing away cigar or cigaret stubs or burning matches from an automobile in any grassy or brushy section of the county, whether in or

WHERE, OH WHERE DOES OUR SILVERWARE GO? PLAINTIVE SONG OF RESTAURANT OWNERS

Whither away? No, Eustachia, it isn't some lean poet, trying to work up an original first line for the great American epic.

Rather, the sound emanates from the respective larynges of the Santa Ana restaurant keepers, the men who provide the hot groceries for those who have no wives and for those whose wives' best friends are dogs.

To blurt it out brutally, the eating house proprietors want to know what is becoming of their cutlery, not to mention divers other small articles that readily can be slipped into a coat pocket.

In fact, the theft of knives, forks, spoons, cream bottles, sugar bowls, or "what have you" from the tables of Santa Ana cafes, grills, eating places, lunch counters and other places where food is dispensed, has become a matter of real concern. It is something to be "viewed with alarm."

One restaurant keeper bought dozen nice, engraved spoons a year ago; today he has only 10 dozen. Whither away?

Must Buy More He purchased a large supply of tiny individual cream bottles and now he is forced to buy in a duplicate of the original order.

But they don't blame the Santa Ana people very much, because it isn't the Santa Ana people who have such taking habits.

One food merchant remarked: "A lot of people, in fact, a very surprising number, seem to look upon the restaurants as legitimate prey for petty larceny. They do this on the theory that the restaurant keeper is 'kyping' them in his prices and they are rightfully entitled to some little extra consideration, such as a sugar bowl, a couple of spoons or a cream bottle."

"Perhaps, in the high price places, there may be some grounds for the practice, but in ordinary eating houses the margin of profit is so low that the owner cannot operate on such a basis and make much money."

SAFE HIGHWAY OVER MOUNTAIN RANGE PLANNED

Surveying Crew Completes Work on Corona Side and Is in Black Star Canyon

A safe, wide highway over the Santa Ana mountains from Santiago canyon, in Orange, to Corona, in Riverside county, is contemplated in the work of a surveying crew of the U. S. forest service. This crew, in charge of C. L. Young, has completed its survey on the Corona side of the range, and is now at work in Black Star canyon, on the Santiago side.

"Construction of the road from Corona to the crest will commence this fall after the extreme fire danger season is over with," said Forest Ranger J. B. Stephenson, of Corona. "The citizens of Corona have subscribed $2000 to a fund for building this road. The money not only has been subscribed, but has actually been paid in and is now on deposit in a bank at Corona. The county of Riverside has pledged $3000 to the project. The forest service will match these two contributions."

Switchbacks Are Necessary As a result of the careful survey just finished by Young on the Corona side, it looks as though the cost of the road on that side will reach $15,000. A number of switchbacks had to be arranged for, and a good deal of rock is to be encountered by the road builders.

Young's crew, part of which is camped at the Hidden ranch and part at the old Shaw ranch, in Black Star, is finding far less rock on this side of the ridge than was found on the Corona side. While the distance to the crest on this side is seven miles from the Santiago and five miles from where construction will start near Corona, the cost on the Orange county side will likely figure out to be less than on the Corona side.

Young is relocating the old road in Black Star from the mouth of the Santiago, in the canyon bottom, to the upper end of the old Shaw ranch. The road now in use has been used for 50 years or more. It was traveled by Frank Carpenter, who located on what is later years became known as the Shaw ranch. Carpenter built the old adobe still on the place. Young, in relocating the road, is avoiding as many stream crossings as possible. This he is doing with the least possible sacrifice of oaks and sycamores, which fill the canyon bottom.

Road on Mountainside From the canyon bottom at the Shaw ranch to the Hidden ranch, some of the Hungerford killing nearly 30 years ago, is a distance of approximately three miles. It will take two or three long switchbacks on this mountainside in order to give the road an even easy grade. From the Hidden ranch to the crest, which is all through brush, no difficulties of consequence will be met.

Forest Ranger Stephenson said that no arrangements had been made for the building of the road on the Orange county side. The survey was ordered by the forest service on the expectation that the road would be wanted within a short time. While Young and his crew were at work on the Corona side, it was thought advisable to complete the survey across the range. Young's survey is being made in detail, so that a contractor can take the data and know to a yard how much dirt and rock he will have to move.

Robert N. Clarke, candidate for the Republican nomination for the U. S. senate, and Gov. F. W. Richardson, candidate for re-election, will be the principal speakers at the meeting, Friday evening, of the Orange County Young Men's Republican club, it was announced today by Jack Wallace, secretary.

The meeting is to be held at the American Legion hall, in the basement of the city hall, Orange, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. Wallace said that it was the rule of the organization to finish the meetings by 8 o'clock.

Wallace also declared several of the members had suggested that the club take action at the meeting, Friday evening, in endorsing several candidates for state office. This question will be taken up at that time and possibly several of the more important offices will be covered by endorsements.

The club is growing, according to the secretary, and several hundreds of the county's most energetic young men are expected to be present. Dinner will be served prior to the business session.

MAN ARRESTED AS MENDICANT DIES WEALTHY

"Boneless" Herring Said to Have Left $40,000 After Career of Begging

The "boneless herring" is dead, a wealthy man.

Charles F. Stock, who, when he was arrested in Santa Ana about two years ago, claimed to have been operated on more than 100 times for a disease which was slowly eating his bones away, passed away recently at the Patton state hospital, according to information received here.

Stock was arrested in Santa Ana on a charge of failing to stop and render aid after an accident and was held at the county hospital. When reporters talked to him there, he described himself as the "boneless herring."

Money in Wooden Leg

Officers said that, when Stock was arrested in Los Angeles, shortly before he was taken into custody here, his wooden leg yielded several thousand dollars in bills, but the "herring" denied the truth of the statement.

Stock, for many months, sat in his wheel chair, outside Los Angeles churches, and sold his pamphlets to the church people as they came out after the services, it was said. Touched by the sight of the "mendicant," the church folk would virtually rain money upon him. It was asserted.

That he was able to save a great deal was attested by a dispatch from Santa Barbara to the effect that $25,000 was found on his person there. Papers found upon him, when he was arrested for begging by officers at San Jacinto, indicated, it was said, that he owned stocks and bonds worth approximately $40,000.

He Lived In Shack

Of late months Stock's shack at Hesperia Springs has been his "home." After his death, officers visited the shack in an effort to find papers that would shed some light upon his relatives, but nothing of value in that respect was located. The condition of the interior of the hut made officers believe that his personal effects had been tampered with.

Stock is understood to have left a will naming a member of the Elliott-Horn company, Los Angeles, as his executor. According to officials of the state hospital, papers found on his person indicated that he had been married, but that his wife had returned to Odessa, Russia.

TOURIST THROGS VISIT CALIFORNIA

Tourist travel to California and the coast got well under way during the month of June, according to James B. Duffy, general passenger agent of the Santa Fe, who announced that, during the 30-day period the California Limited was run three sections during 16 days of the month, while during the same month in 1925, three sections were necessary only on three days. The limited is operated every day in two sections between Los Angeles and Chicago.

"This," said Mr. Duffy, "indicates a very healthy increase in the summer travel, as all the trains arriving are loaded, and particularly the limited, this indicating that a high class travel is under way."

"These people will spend the summer here in California, and will see all that interests them. Before the end of the season they are going to be sold on the state and its advantages. As a delightful place to spend the warm weather months, they are finding that the Pacific coast has every opportunity."

Travel to Europe this summer is very heavy, the passenger official stated, although California is getting her share, and from now on business will pick up considerably.

200 ARE DEAD AS RESULT OF CELEBRATIONS

NEW YORK, July 7.—Fourth of July celebration in the United States left more than 200 deaths in its wake, a survey made by the United Press reveals.

Fireworks, usually first, this year ranked third in the list of fatality causes, with automobile accidents and drownings first and second, respectively. Several deaths from heat were reported from the middle west.

200 Hurt by Fireworks St. Louis, Mo., was the only city in the country to report more than a few fireworks accidents. Approximately 200 persons in the Missouri city were in hospitals suffering from fireworks burns. None of those so injured, however, was dangerously hurt. St. Louis' only deaths were four from automobile accidents, three from meat and one from drowning.

The most unusual accident in the country occurred in Davenport, Ia., where a large firecracker thrown by a small boy fell in the mouth of a 19-year-old youth and exploded while he was conversing. He is expected to recover. Nine other persons were injured in Iowa, but only one death was reported from the state.

12 Die In Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania had 12 deaths, none from fireworks accidents. Approximately 200 persons in the Missouri city were in hospitals suffering from fireworks burns.

The number of fatalities from the various states included the following: New York, 22; Ohio, 21; Texas, 14; Missouri, 12; Pennsylvania, 12; Illinois, 12; Minnesota, 11; Oklahoma, 7; Indiana, 5; Colorado, 5; Nebraska, 5; Kansas and Wisconsin, 2; and Iowa, 1.

Twenty-four deaths occurred on the west coast, 17 in New England and nearly all of the rest in the southern section of the country.

4100 NEW LAWS WASHINGTON, July 7.—Legislatures in 10 states have enacted 4100 new laws this year, despite the fact that this is an "off year" in the legislative industry. New York holds the leadership in the number of bills passed, followed in order by Rhode Island, Virginia, Massachusetts, South Carolina, Mississippi, New Jersey, Kentucky, Washington and Georgia.

2000 PERSONS HEAR SPEAKERS LAUD AMERICA AT BIRCH PARK

Freeman Bloodgood Points Out Wisdom Shown by Adams, Jefferson, Frank

SEES WORLD PEACE THROUGH REPUBLICS

City Attorney Pays Tribute To Veterans for Inspiration Given Younger Figh

The Independence day celebration, held in Birch park Monday afternoon, was attended by 2000 persons, declared to be a record attendance for the annual observance in the park.

The atmosphere of noise and fireworks was lacking, but deep-felt sentiments were stirred among those gathered to do honor to the United States on the occasion of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Speakers praised the ideals of this nation and paid honor to the heroes who fought in defense of the nation.

Bloodgood Is Speaker Freeman H. Bloodgood, principal speaker of the afternoon, said universal peace among the powers of the earth depended on the success of the republics. He said that the rule first evolved by the United States and since adopted by 37 nations.

"History records no conflicts between countries with the republican form of government," Bloodgood declared. "The United States did make war on Mexico, but that was the only unjust war this country ever fought and Mexico at that time was only nominally a republic under the dictatorial rule of Santa Anna. History repeats itself and, hence, peace among nations, judging of the past, will come when all the nations are republics."

An account of the events of Revolutionary times that led up to the signing of the Declaration of Independence was related by Bloodgood.

The program of the day began in the morning, at 10:30 o'clock, with assembly call played by the fire and drum corps of the Orange County United Spanish War Veterans, of Calumet camp No. 26.

At periods during the morning, the members of the fire and drum corps of the Orange County United Spanish War Veterans, of Calumet camp No. 26, were Charles Corad and Harry Corad, and the drummers were Capt. Charles Kincaid, W. W. Tandler, J. Hammond, W. H. Showalter, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Glaze.

G. A. R. Veterans Attend More than 100 brought their baskets for the luncheon at noon on the park benches. Several veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic were present.

By the time the afternoon exercises were ready to begin, the Santa Ana band, led by C. D. Cianfori, was introduced by H. E. Smith, who had charge of the arrangements for the local post of the G. A. R. Several selections were rendered, including the "Star Spangled Banner."

Invocation was asked by the Rev. F. T. Porter, of the First Christian church.

A solo was sung by Charles Haas, of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. Mrs. F. T. Porter gave two patriotic readings, "The Spirit of '76" and "To the American Flag." Mrs. Lulu Johnson sang a solo and she gave an encore number with Mrs. Porten.

Satisfaction with Capital "P"

That's good enough! You hear it every day. To get by—is the candied hope of many. All of which ultimately spells mediocrity.

There's only one kind of real dyed-in-the-wool satisfaction and that is spelled with a capital P. P meaning perfect! Any other sort is merely begging the question—a hope of getting by.

But when you are in business to stay—Where you deal with your closest friends among others, the straight and narrow is the road. We follow through on our deal for selfish reasons, as well as for the fact that it is the "only way."

out of the national forest, is against the law. Federal, state and county fire wardens all over Southern California are out to enforce that law.

The men arrested in Coldwater canyon had walked up the canyon from Glen Ivy into a part of the canyon that is heavily wooded and where any bit of fire might start a fire that would sweep the Santa Ana range.

The ranger said that this summer is likely to be hazardous, the more so because the late rains brought about a heavy growth of grass.

Rangers have been stationed in the usual stations on both sides of the Santa Ana mountains. Telephone lines have been repaired and all are connected with the station on Santiago peak, where a man is stationed to keep a constant lookout for signs of fire.

NEGRO HELD FOR WOMAN'S DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Warren George, a negro porter, was under arrest today in connection with the murder of Mrs. Evelyn Gerber, known as "Mona Moore" in the underworld, whose mutilated body was found Saturday in a desolate gulch near San Francisco.

George, according to police, was the woman's companion at a party late Wednesday night. The murder took place shortly afterward, according to autopsy surgeons.

Police were checking the movements of the negro Wednesday night and Thursday morning, despite the man's denial that he had attended the party.

2000 PERSONS HEAR SPEAKERS AT BIRCH PARK

Z. B. West Jr., Santa Ana city attorney, made a brief talk. He said that in observing the Fourth of July the greatest day in history was celebrated. Tribute was paid to the nation's veterans when West, speaking as one of the World War soldiers, stated that it was the spirit of '76, as exemplified by the boys of '61, that gave courage to the doughboys of the last war.

At the close of the program, Judge E. T. Langley, Civil War veteran, took the stand and called for a vote. Unanimous and enthusiastic response was made by the audience when asked to show its approval and express its appreciation for the speakers and entertainers who appeared on the program.

High Lights of Speech

Some of the high lights of the address by Freeman Bloodgood were as follows:

"No one can satisfactorily tell the story of the Declaration of Independence. It would take months to even read all that has been written about it. But with a word or two, we may look back to that time, 150 years ago.

"California was in the possession of Spain. The total population of the colonies was only about 3,000,000 people. The territory of the colonies extended over the Mississippi river, and didn't include Florida.

"Congress had met in Philadelphia, the cradle of American liberty. There that immortal document, the Declaration of Independence, was drawn up, worded for the most part by Thomas Jefferson, then a young man 33 years old. A committee of five, appointed by the congress to prepare the Declaration of Independence, finally submitted Jefferson's work with a few but important changes.

"Franklin Made Changes

"Where the original paper said 'a people' in the preamble, Benjamin Franklin insisted that it read 'the people'. Then he had it altered to spell God with a capital 'G'. Another phrase was changed from 'threatened separation' to 'the separation' because Franklin wanted to let the world know that division from England was actually accomplished.

"Another change that is significant, as it forecast the great Civil War, was in striking out the clauses about slavery. It was another 85 years before the issue was settled definitely and the equality of all people in opportunity, law and franchise was established.

"The cause of the colonists was aided in the fight for independence by the removal of the French on the western frontier, the long sea coast difficult to conquer and the schooling in self-government that dated back a thousand years in English history.

"Three men, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams and Benjamin Franklin, stand out in the early American history clustered around the Declaration of Independence.

"When the colonists drew up their first form of government, in the Articles of Confederation, they

CAILLAUX SEES NEW TERMS IN DEBT PAYMENT

(By United Press)

PARIS, July 7.—Joseph Caillaux told chamber of deputies Tuesday that he had received assurances of modification of the Mellon-Berenger agreement for funding the French debt to the United States.

The Mellon-Berenger agreement will be submitted to parliament with the Anglo-French agreement, which still is to be negotiated, Caillaux said. He told the deputies that ratification of the agreements to pay debts was indispensable to the feat of rehabilitating French finance.

Advances of the Bank of France to the government are within 500,000,000 francs of the legal limit and a good part of the $100,000,000 Morgan loan has been absorbed in the effort to check the slump of the franc, the minister of finance revealed in his exposition of the French financial situation.

Caillaux apparently believes his facts and figures will so shock the chamber and the country that, with the good news regarding the debt agreements, the chamber will be in a mood to accept his financial projects when he presents them.

He warned the chamber that France cannot now obtain credits from the United States nor from Great Britain unless she pays her debts, but added that she cannot pay her debts if the pound and dollar continue to mount in relation to the franc.

Cafe Owners Are Wondering Where Silverware Goes

house; but the customers seem to think it is a 'beating' house.

But, to repeat, Santa Ana people are not to blame. It's the transients who look upon the table hardware as worthy of collection. Sometimes they are actuated by a desire to accumulate a roomful of souvenirs, at other times they just want to show the proprietor he isn't so smart, after all, with his alleged Ritzzy prices.

Little Can Be Done

To make matters worse, very little can be done about it.

If a restaurant owner posts signs on each table, calling attention to the fact that the eating utensils should all be left for the waitress to collect, he is presumed to be reflecting upon the honesty of his patrons.

If he subjects each patron to a search, as they pass by the cash register, and levies a small amount for each article found, in all probability the particular persons so searched will not return to that place for munching purposes. Nest ce pas?

A cafe proprietor, it was pointed out, can't afford to take an attitude with the public. He must admit that the customer is always right—and lay in a new supply of knives, forks, spoons, sugar bowls and individual cream bottles.

"Talk about the crime problem," groaned a Santa Ana man, "I have to stand here and watch it roll by and not whimper."

FREE METHODISTS TO MEET IN L. A.

Members of the Free Methodist church in Santa Ana, Orange county and Southern California are attending the annual camp meeting and conference, which opened in Los Angeles today.

According to the Rev. David McLeod, pastor of the church here, it is expected that the attendance will be in excess of 1200.

The camp meeting is being held at the corner of Avenue 60 and Monterey road, and sessions will be held daily, until next Tuesday, when the conference will convene and remain in session until the following Sunday.

Appointment of pastors will be made during the latter part of the week and assignments will be announced Saturday.

During the absence of the Rev. Mr. McLeod, the Rev. Joseph Ward, of this city, will supply his pulpit. The Rev. and Mrs. McLeod went to Los Angeles today. Among others who will attend from here are Mrs. Ellen M. Rossier, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greenwald, Mrs. Anna Lee, Miss Virginia Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Linger, and Ralph Seacord and family.

The average wage paid to laborers in the American petroleum industry is 46.8 cents per hour.

Open Office for Fair Exhibitors At New Location

J. R. Hunt, manager of the Orange County fair, today announced the opening of an office on the fair grounds, opposite the county hospital. He stated that information for exhibitors and others interested in entering exhibits would be obtainable at the office.

The fair grounds are now being placed in condition, the water system is being installed and other improvements are under way.

Construction of the fence to enclose the grounds is expected to start this week or early next week.

MATE KILLS SELF AFTER WIFE DIES

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Albee, of Tustin, today received from Mrs. Elizabeth Skinner Wheeler, information of the death, in Los Angeles, of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Fuller, former residents of Santa Ana. The Fullers resided here some 20 years ago, when Fuller was a conductor in charge of a Santa Fe local train operating between Santa Ana and Los Angeles.

Fuller committed suicide 15 minutes after the death of Mrs. Fuller, who passed away following a long illness.

According to the information received here, the tragedy occurred in the home of the Fullers, 1744 South Ardmore street. Shortly after dawn, Mrs. Fuller, who had been attended by a physician for a year, suddenly took a turn for the worse. Her husband sat through the crucial moments by her bedside, hopefully watching for the least sign of returning strength. He had called a doctor and was waiting. His son, S. H. Fuller, kept silent vigil opposite his father. Before the physician arrived, Mrs. Fuller passed away.

For a few moments, he son wept beside the bed of his mother. He did not notice that his father had stepped into the dining room. The doctor arrived, and while he stood beside the grief-stricken son, they heard the report of a pistol. They rushed into the dining room. The elder Fuller lay prostrate on the floor, a revolver clutched in his right hand and blood streaming from a wound in his head. He was dead.

In taking his own life, Fuller fulfilled declarations he frequently had made that he would follow his wife into eternity, it was reported.

Husband Charges Wife Stole Child

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Mrs. Maude Stockwell, of El Centro, was held in the Los Angeles county jail yesterday on a charge of stealing her own 2-year-old daughter, Lucille.

Complaint for the woman's arrest was filed by her husband, who claims he was awarded custody of this child and two others in a divorce action.

Mrs. Stockwell claims the proceedings were nullified when she returned to live with her husband at Venice before the final decree was granted.

PAVING BIDS ARE ASKED BY STATE
SACRAMENTO, July 7.—The state highway commission has called for bids on the proposed paving of the historic Mountain Springs grade, between El Centro and San Diego.
Many dangerous curves were eliminated by grading work recently completed. The section to be paved will be 6.8 miles long. Its completion will eliminate one of the few remaining unpaved gaps between the Imperial valley and the coast.
Bids also were asked for a line change at Gavito creek, Santa Barbara county, on the Coast highway. A new bridge, 192 feet long, will be built across the stream and a quarter of a mile of new highway will be graded. The change will eliminate a dangerous curve.

PLAN FORECASTING OF FOREST FIRES
WASHINGTON, July 7.—A special fire-weather warning service, to be conducted by the weather bureau, department of agriculture and forest service, has been organized.
An appropriation of about $20,000 in addition to traveling expenses paid by co-operating associations is available for the work. About three-fourths of the funds will be used in western states where the problem of forest fire protection is most serious.
In some sections fire hazard persists throughout the summer, but as a rule spring and late fall are the periods of greatest danger.
When conditions under which fires are likely to start are forecast, the damage may be greatly reduced.
The main object of the investigation is to determine more accurately what constitutes bad fire weather and to work out reliable methods of predicting such weather far enough in advance to send out reliable warnings.

Pastor Sees Old Acquaintances at Eucharistic Meet
All paths led to Chicago during the holding of the Eucharistic congress and from the most remote corners of the universe men and women trekked their way to the great American city. Many were the friends who were jostled together in the tremendous throngs, and the Rev. Henry H. Eummelen, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, of this city, was greeted by men he had not seen for years.
While making his way out of the coliseum one day, he found that he was walking beside a little man in a very tall stovepipe hat, whom he recognized as Father De Voss, head of the Catholic Colonization society, in which he had been active some years ago. While conversing with his new-found old friend, he was greeted by Father Weber, of Sierra Madre. No sooner had they exchanged salutations than he was tapped on the shoulder and a familiar voice from out the past said, "Turn around, I want to look at you. I know the back of your head and when I spotted it I followed you." Turning around as much as the seething mass of humanity would allow, Father Eummelen found himself face to face with the priest who had been his assistant in Vancouver, B. C., 30 years ago, and who now wears a bishop's robes. His diocese is the last district of Alaska.

Circus Workman Shoots Daughter And Kills Self
MADERA, Calif., July 7.—Liquor crazed, Tom Ortega, circus workman, fired a bullet through his brain and died instantly, after an argument with his daughter, Mrs. Reynalda Caudillo, acrobat with a show playing here, whom he wounded in the left arm. At the coroner's inquest, the daughter, 22 years of age, told a vivid story of the incident, asserting Ortega was drunk with wine and, believing he had killed his daughter, killed himself. She was slightly injured and left with the show.

KILLED AT CROSSING

ANDY'S SERVICE STATIONS HANDLE ASSOCIATED GAS

Motoring Public Offered Efficient Service by Teague Concern
Andy's Service stations at Huntington Beach are operated by Andy Teague. With locations at Fifth and Main, and First and Ocean, in the beach city, these two stations have established a high record of gasoline gallonage handled through their pumps.
The motoring public is offered a 100 per cent service by the Teague organization, which handles tires, tubes, accessories and cares for batteries and ignition work of all kinds.
Teague is a veteran in the gasoline business, having been connected with the sales force of one of the big companies before entering the service station business at Huntington Beach. "We have been handling Associated gasoline for the last three years," said Teague, "and, while we handle three other gasolines at our stations, our records tell us that about 75 per cent of our total gasoline sales is achieved by the Associated pumps. This would indicate that the resident and transient trade which we enjoy are both sold on the merits of the Associated product. Our business is showing a healthy growth and we attribute this to the lines we carry, plus unfailing courtesy and service given by our personnel at all times."

Our Neighbors
SAN DIEGO.—Announcement that the war department has awarded a contract to the United Dredging company at 42 cents a cubic yard for dredging area F off the mole pier, one of the most important dredging projects in recent years, is made by Maj. Herbert A. Finch, district engineer. Completion of the dredging approximately four months hence will not only open up a new channel to the north side of the city's new $1,000,000 marine terminal but soil removed from the dredged area will reclaim valuable tidelands on which the municipal airport will be located, Harbormaster Joseph Brennan reports. For more than two years harbor officials have consistently endeavored to induce the war department to take decisive action in removing the shoal area that has blocked deep-draft ships from utilizing the north side of the mole pier. The sum of $149,000 have been made available for this project since 1922 but bids submitted by various dredging companies proved so high the war department refused to consider them.

RIVERSIDE.—This year the Southern California fair will be held at an earlier date than usual, the opening date being September 21. The new entrance, which reduced traffic congestion at the grounds to a minimum, is being plastered this year. This will be completed this week and the very choicest gladiolus and dahila bulbs will be set out. These bulbs have already been started in individual pots to assure their blooming during fair time. Beautiful decorative schemes will be carried out in the various tents that will surpass the agricultural tent of all previous fairs.

BRAWLEY.—Survey made by B. A. Harrigan, county horticultural commissioner, indicates that approximately 84,000 acres of lettuce will be planted for the 1926-27 season. Virtually all of the lettuce growers of last season are represented in the long list of planters and it is believed that the total acreage this season will exceed that of last year by several thousand acres. Scores of tractors have been operating night and day in the last week plowing up land to be prepared for lettuce planting. It is the usual plan of lettuce growers to plow up alfalfa land, especially that which has been overrun with bermuda, to summer-fallow the land and kill out the bermuda and other optional growth. The land is disked about September and made into lettuce beds so that the first planting may take place about October 1. Most of the lettuce land is rented between October 1 and November 15. The method used by growers to produce a steady supply of winter lettuce is to withhold water from the seed until several weeks after planting.

LONG BEACH.—Long Beach bank deposits June 30, the closing day of the fiscal year, showed an increase of $1,000,000 over the figures for the same date last year, according to the response to a call from the comptroller of the currency. This increase in deposits for Long Beach as compared with June 30, 1925, is additional confirmation of the statements gathered from various sources showing a gradual and steady improvement in business conditions here. Bank deposits as of June 30 this year are $53,190,888.15, as compared with $52,681,410 on June 30, 1925.

RIVERSIDE.—Citrus shipments for the Riverside district last week consisted of 36 cars of oranges, seven cars of lemons and two cars of grapefruit; this is the lightest week's total since December 1. About 100 cars of Valencia, 50 to 75 cars of lemons, and 50 cars of grapefruit remain to be shipped.

NONE HURT WHEN STAGE OVERTURNS
Twenty persons passengers on a Crown stage, operating between Santa Ana and Laguna Beach narrowly escaped injury at 7 o'clock Monday night, when the bus overturned near Culver's corner, on the San Diego highway.
The passengers were trapped in the bus, which had only one exit, and were forced to crawl to safety through the windows, according to a report received here.
The bus was the last of the daily stages to leave Laguna Beach and was crowded. The driver of the bus was forced off the road by heavy traffic in the wheels of the stage skidding in the mire, caused from irrigation.
According to a report filed here, no one was injured.
Don't forget KFI lecture, 9 and 10 tonight.

Stride
These same essentials in perfect co-ordination—quick start, the full stride of power, and force sustained to the very end [finish]—are necessary to good gasoline. Associated, through its distinctive range of boiling points, insures this kind of a performance: no sputter when you step on the starter, no miss when you give her the gas, and always a smooth supply of adequate power from start to finish. That's why Associated is Champion. Associated is always associated with "more miles to the gallon."

PHIPPS OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR G. O. P. SOLONS

BY C. B. DODDS
(Special Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The administration's campaign to re-elect Republican senators was officially opened by Senator Phipps, of Colorado, chairman of the senatorial campaign committee, in his speech from the floor in the senate today.

Senator Phipps referred to the situation in 1921, when there were 5,000,000 wage earners out of work. Liberty bonds were selling at 85 and the federal government was top-heavy with officials and clerks.

To meet this situation, the Republican administration entered upon policies of a high protective tariff, immigration restriction, and economy in governmental affairs. As a result of these policies, great strides have been made by the nation since 1921, Senator Phipps pointed out. He said the value of manufactured products has increased from 45 to 60 billion dollars a year; the value of farm crops has advanced from seven to 11.5 billion; the value of our mineral output has moved up from six to eight and one-half billion; the assets of building and loan associations jumped from less than three to almost four billion dollars; the value of newly-erected buildings advanced from 1800 million to nearly three billion dollars per annum and, according to estimates of the federal trade commission, our national wealth has nearly doubled since the inauguration of President Harding. It is now greater than that of the British empire, France, Germany and Italy combined.

While private business has been made to boom throughout the country, the Republican economy program has steadily reduced governmental activity. It resulted in reducing the federal payroll in the District of Columbia from $9,500 at the end of the Wilson administration to $1,200 on April 30, last. Throughout the nation, the number of federal employees has been reduced from 891,000 to 545,000 during the same time. The cost of government was reduced from more than six billion during the last year of the Wilson administration to about three billion, 500 million dollars, and the public debt has been reduced by five billion dollars. All this has been done, Senator Phipps reminded his hearers, and still taxes were reduced so that in five years the total reduction per annum has been one billion, 650 million dollars, which is a sum far in excess of the entire governmental expenditures before the war.

Iowa's "pitiful story," as related in congress by the farm bloc senators and representatives does not jibe with the advertising being published in eastern trade papers by the Iowa Daily Press association. The advertising has for its object the securing of business for Iowa state papers. They speak of Iowa as the place "where prosperity flows her golden spoon," which is entirely different from the mortgage-ridden, bankrupt, penniless picture with the farmers shown to be on the verge of starvation as drawn by the Iowa politician.

This Iowa boasting advertisement reads as follows:

Iowa people are far better prospects for your goods than the average population of the country at large, because they are able to buy and willing to buy. Iowa ranks 51 per cent above the nation's average in taxable wealth per capita. The living standard is very high. Iowa has the lowest percentage of illiterates; more telephones per capita than any other state; by far the foremost agricultural state; Iowa's industries also add to her prosperity; approximately two bank accounts for every family in the state; largest number of automobiles on the farms (one for every 3.7 persons in the state); the radio ratio is high; Iowans can afford to buy powerful receiving sets."

The executive branch of the government is organizing to carry out the terms of 11 Indian treaty claims bills, recently passed by congress. All of the bills send the claims to the U. S. court of claims for adjudication, but the responsibility of government and tons of old, dusty files filled with yellowing and dimming documents must be gone over to get at all the facts. This task has been assigned to the comptroller general, who was given $150,000 in the last deficiency bill, just passed, to engage a staff of extra executives and clerks to do this work. The comptroller general estimated it will take at least five years to get the facts in all of the 11 cases pending and present them to the Court of Claims.

Authority to build a dam, a reservoir, water conduits, a power house and a transmission line 82 miles in length, has been granted the East Bay Municipal Utility district, of Oakland, by the federal power commission. The water, after it has generated 10,000 horsepower, will be used for municipal purposes. The project will be located in Amador, Calaveras, San Joaquin and Contra Costa counties. The water conduits will be approximately 82 miles long, most of them being five-foot steel pipes, but with more than four miles of eight-foot tunnels.

At the same meeting, the commission granted a permit to the Hobart Estate company, of San Francisco, for a power project on Highland creek, in Tuolumne and Alpine counties. A dam, about 80 feet in height, will be built across Highland creek. The power will be used in mining and public utility service.

LEOPARD THAT KILLED 125 IS SLAIN IN INDIA

LONDON, July 7.—One of the most remarkable stories in the history of Indian shikar (big game hunting) is told by a Naini Tal correspondent in the Pioneer, of Allahabad.

The writer describes the killing of a leopard, which in the last seven years has killed 125 human beings, by Capt. J. Corbett, of Gurney House, Naini Tal, with the co-operation of A. W. B. Hunter, deputy commissioner of Garhwal. The beast roamed in an area of some 350 square miles of western Garhwal, which included the junction of the pilgrim routes to the holy shrines of Kadmam and Badrinath.

The leopard did not often seize pilgrims, who travel in bands of considerable size and are protected in their shelters at night by strong lights. Its victims were generally snatched from inside houses or their entrance. The fear this aroused led the people to close up and barricade their small homes even in the stifling hot weather.

Year after year all efforts to kill the leopard failed. Sixteen Indian shikaris paid by the government did not succeed; twice the leopard was caught, once in a trap and once in a cave, only to escape. Gun traps, gin traps, the most careful tracking, sitting up over human kills, poisoning the kills with strychnine, arsenic, and cyanide were of no avail. The country folk long ago decided that the man-eater had supernatural power.

Toward the end of April, Captain Corbett sat up for 10 nights on a machan, near a grass shelter where the leopard had killed three victims without seeing anything of the beast. Below was a goat secured with a bell around its neck.

On the 11th night, at 10 o'clock, Captain Corbett heard something rush down the road and by means of his electric torch was able to see a leopard springing. He fired without apparent result, and had to spend an anxious night aloft until daylight came. He then found blood tracks leading to the leopard which lay dead in a hole into which it had fallen 50 yards down a ravine.

The identification of the animal as the famous man-eater is unquestionable. It was very old and its length was 7 feet 10 inches. Captain Corbett had spent 10 weeks in the hunt.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, of Arkansas, is one of the most formidable debaters who ever came to Washington and Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, made a mistake when he crossed verbal swords with him the other day during the former's discussion of the proper price to pay for votes at senatorial primaries—as in Pennsylvania.

When Caraway had finished his speech there'd have been nothing for him to do but quit and sit down.

What he needs, worse than anything in the world, when he's making a talk, is to have somebody try to interfere and mix him up. It's at a bit of repartee that he's best. He always comes out of such encounters on top.

Other senators discovered this long ago, from bitter experience. They let him strictly alone, no matter what he says. But Bingham is rather a new hand at the senatorial game. He rushed in where hard-boiled solons fear to tread and Caraway had some fun.

Caraway didn't start with the idea of assuming that votes were bought, out and out, at so much per, in Pennsylvania. Bingham gave him the idea, and Caraway so twisted the conversation that the Nutmeg state senator appeared to be agreeing with him that that was what really happened.

When one considers that the Pennsylvania primary was a Republican primary and that Bingham is a Republican senator and that Caraway is a Democratic one, it immediately becomes apparent how awkward this was for Bingham.

It will be recalled that when Truman H. Newberry was criticized for having spent $195,000 to be elected senator from Michigan, Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio, introduced a resolution to the effect that $195,000 was more than any such campaign ought to cost.

Nevertheless Willis voted not to unseat Newberry. Caraway simply re-introduced this resolution, but with the amount blank, suggesting that, as the Republican primary appeared to have cost about $1,850,000, he thought the resolution ought to be amended. He invited Willis, "or some senator who sympathizes with him, to write in whatever sum he feels would be reasonable."

At this point, Bingham made the unfortunate remark that it seemed to him there ought to be a sliding scale—a larger allowance for state with a large population than for a state with a small one.

Caraway agreed immediately. If a Senate seat cost, say $10 a vote, obviously, he said, a candidate in a state with 10,000,000 population ought to be authorized to spend more than a candidate in a state with 100,000.

Hooked, Bingham struggled to escape. He meant legitimate expenditures, of course—not the purchase of votes.

"Don't you think," he insisted, "that, instead of a lump sum per state, it would be wiser to provide that not more than 10 or 25 cents per head might properly be spent by a candidate on a primary campaign?"

"I do not put my opinion against the opinion of experts who have had more experience in vote-buying than I," rejoined Caraway. "I leave it to senators who have given the subject more study than I have, but I think there ought to be a limit."

RIVERSIDE—From ten to 12 carloads of grapes a day will be the output from the Coachella valley within two weeks is the prediction by Alex Hanson of the county horticultural commission's office. Growers of the Coachella valley expect to ship at least 225 carloads of table grapes before the close of the season, according to Hanson. Shipments for the last week or more have averaged four and five carloads daily and the lowest price yet received was $1600 net to the grower. The highest price received so far was $2500 net for one car, Hanson declared. Although recent light rains slowed up picking to some extent, it is expected that the peak of production will be reached in about 10 days. Labor is plentiful, Hanson reported, and the growers in general are optimistic over the prospects for a banner grape year. Coachella valley is known as the earliest grape shipping district in the United States.

POMONA—With a $500,000 paving program completed, a modern sewage disposal plant built, 30 miles of streets oiled and screened and work of installing 10 miles of new sewer laterals finished, Fred C. Froehde, city engineer, closes his books for the fiscal year 1925-26 feeling that a great deal has been accomplished in the line of public improvements. In addition to the improvements outlined, a well which now has a real cash value estimated at 12,500 has been brought in to care for the water

ONTARIO—According to figures given out by Postmaster Presley E. Berger, the total receipts at the Ontario post office for the six months ending June 30 were $25,878.70, as compared to $24,179.50 for the like period of 1925. This shows a net gain of $1699.20 or a trifle better than seven per cent, and clearly indicates the continued growth and prosperity of Ontario. When Berger was made postmaster in January, 1924, the office was operated with a force of five clerks and an assistant postmaster. Since that time the growth of the local office has been phenomenal and on April 1 of this year, it was moved to a new building, giving it double the floor space available in its former location. The office force has been increased with three new clerks and counting carriers and other employees the government now has a local force of twenty-four. A total of 27 mails are received and dispatched daily.

SAN DIEGO—With the close of the 1925-26 season, Dean Blake, local meteorologist in charge of the weather bureau, issued some interesting facts concerning the moisture records made in the last 12 months. The total rainfall for the season was 15.66 inches, which is 5.65 inches above the normal precipitation. A normal year brings this city 10.01 inches of rain, Blake said. This record, according to Blake, has been exceeded only five times since 1850, when the weather bureau was established here. The years in which a heavier rainfall was recorded and the amounts as given by Blake today from official government records, are as follows: During 1873-74, 16.38 inches; 1877-78, 16.10 inches; 1883-84, 25.97 inches; 1885-86, 16.36 inches; 1921-22, 13.65 inches.

SANTA MONICA—With a $11-

502,439 in bank clearances for the month of June and $85,975,040 for the first six months of the present year, according to the monthly report just compiled by R. B. Harris, secretary of the Bay District Clearing-House association, all local records of past years have been shattered. Clearances exceed the peak of 1924 by more than $1,000,000 and are ahead of the June record last year by nearly $3,000,000. Last year's figures for the first six months are easily passed for the 1926 mark, the gain being more than $35,000,000. Bankers here forecast a new record for the year, all activities in the bay district tending to show that building and commercial undertakings are gaining in momentum.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, July 7.—From Rhodesia comes a story of a lioness' attack on a missionary and a baby's fortunate escape. The Rev. Nigel Arnot was asleep in his tent when a lioness put her foot inside and mauled him. The animal then seized the bed on which the missionary's baby son was sleeping, and dragged out the boy and the bed. The bed collided with an ant hill, and the lioness bolted, leaving the baby unhurt.

INDIANS CHEATED?
NEW YORK, July 7.—Peter Minuit was swindled when he paid 60 guilders, or $24, for Manhattan Island in 1626, according to Tunis Bergen, former president of the Holland society. Bergen said that $24, in 1626, was the equivalent of $2000 today. He said that the 20,000 acre tract included in the sale was a barren waste, unutilized and full of stagnant ponds.

FIRST SCULPTOR
PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—Mrs. Patience Lovell Wright, of Bordenstown, N. J., was the first native-born American to follow the art of sculpture. After her husband's death, in 1769, she used to make faces out of bread and putty to amuse her children. Later she began to model in wax, and her products met a commercial demand.

MARINE IS 87
PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—One of the distinguished visitors to the Sesqui-Centennial exposition here is Sergeant Henry B. Halliwell, the oldest living marine. He is a guard here. Halliwell was stationed at the White House as an orderly during the presidency of Thomas Buchanan. He has been retired for years, but spends much of his time at marine barracks. He served in the Civil war.

Greatest Economy Test on Record

Star Six Economy Run averages

32.7 miles to the gallon

on border to border tour with

GENERAL GASOLINE

Julius Dusevoir, with a Star Six Touring Car chosen at random from the stock of the Oakland branch of the Star Motor Car Co., drove from Vancouver, B. C., to Tia Juana, Mexico, a total of 1711.3 miles, making a record-breaking gas mileage of 32.7 miles per gallon.

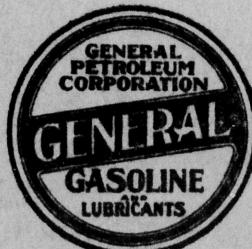

Mr. Dusevoir was observed by newspaper men from ten coast cities who carefully checked the progress of the car and the consumption of gasoline throughout the entire run.

It took seven days to complete the trip, 1711.3 miles in all. It is considered that this is the greatest economy record ever set up—32.7 miles to the gallon.

Dusevoir started at six a. m. from Vancouver, B. C., on June 23 and arrived at Tia Juana at six p. m. on June 30.

The crank case was filled with Parabase Motor Oil at the beginning of the run. No oil was added after the filling at Vancouver. At the end of the run the lubricating qualities of the oil were almost as great as at the beginning.

Drive in to the nearest General Independent Dealer. Fill up with General gasoline. Then you'll know what real gas-mileage is.
